

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at <http://books.google.com/>

THE BEST FICTION

MISS RIVES' NEW NOVEL

The Castaway

"Three Great Men Ruined in One Year
—a King, a Cad and a Castaway."—Byron

This is a new novel by Hallie Erminie Rives, author of "Hearts Courageous," and is a romance of the life and the loves of Lord Byron. There are eight pictures by Howard Chandler Christy.

"Suffused with the rosy light of romance."—New York Times.

"Striking in subject and treatment."—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Picturesque and entertaining."—New York Herald.

"The best thing Miss Rives has done."—New York Press.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR EVERYWHERE (Postage 12 cents.)

The Cost

"A Mighty Romance of Love and Business."

No recent novel has displayed so vividly the multifarious aspects of American life; no recent novel has centered them in action of such absorbing complexity, in love of such irresistible grace. Intense, galvanic, epoch-making, "The Cost" is a masterly tale of masterful men in the grip of the master passion. By David Graham Phillips. With sixteen illustrations by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, $1.50.

Huldah

"One of the Lord's Own People."

Here, for the first time in literature, we have the great-hearted, capable woman of the Texan plains truly depicted. Sunshine attends her; her optimism is unflinching. Hers is the strength and freedom of the plains. The story of the people she helped, out there in the wild cattle country, is exciting, amusing, and inspiring. By Alice MacGowan and Grace MacGowan Cooke. Illustrated by F. Y. Cory. 12mo, $1.50.

In the Bishop's Carriage

Says Alan Dale: "I am rarely aroused by current literature, but this story simply fascinated me. It is glittering, original, and way out of the ordinary."

"If jaded novel readers want a new sensation, they will get it 'In the Bishop's Carriage.'"—Chicago Tribune. By Miriam Michelson. Illustrated by Harrison Fisher. 12mo, $1.50.

The Crafters

"One of the best examples of a new and distinctly American class of fiction—the kind which finds romance and even sensational excitement in business, politics, finance, and law," says the Outlook, April 30, 1904. By Francis Lynde, author of "The Master of Appleby." Illustrated by A. I. Keller. 12mo, $1.50.

The Yoke

A Romance of the Days when the Lord Redeemed the Children of Israel from the Bondage of Egypt

The people, press, and pulpit of America have united in reading and praising this remarkable tale of the Exodus. Without dissent, it is voted to the highest place among its kind.

"In style it is clear and good. I shall read it again."—Rev. MORGAN DIX, D.D., D.C.L.

At the Big House

A delightful collection of folk-tales of the South, told by two old "mammies," to three children on an old Virginia plantation after the war. These tales will prove a valuable addition to a fund of curious knowledge, which is fast becoming unobtainable. The dialect is perfect.

George W. Cable writes the author: "The tales entertain me much, and I think you have made a valuable addition to folk-lore. There is little doubt your book will be warmly admired by children, too, which, to my notion, is a great matter. Ever yours truly, G. W. CABLE."

Marriage and Divorce

THE growing interest in marriage and divorce legislation throughout the country and the determined efforts put forth in the various denominations to make the marriage relation permanent, when once it is entered into, have provoked a great deal of discussion of the family and its place in our modern social organization. The importance of the home as an institution cannot be appreciated without understanding its historical development and its dependence upon sound matrimonial practice. Professor George E. Howard, in a three-volume work entitled has given us a complete survey of the subject from earliest times down to the most recent legislation. The work is divided into three parts and each contains an exhaustive treatment of its appropriate topic. The general chapter headings follow:

PART I. THEORIES OF PRIMITIVE MATRIMONIAL INSTITUTIONS

The Patriarchal Theory
Theory of the Horde and Mother-Right
Theory of the Original Pairing or Monogamous Family
Rise of the Marriage Contract
Early History of Divorce

PART II. MATRIMONIAL INSTITUTIONS IN ENGLAND

Old English Wife-Purchase Yields to Free Marriage
Rise of Ecclesiastical Marriage
Rise of Ecclesiastical Marriage (Continued)
The Protestant Conception of Marriage
Rise of Civil Marriage
History of Separation and Divorce

PART III. MATRIMONIAL INSTITUTIONS IN THE UNITED STATES

Obligatory Civil Marriage in the New England Colonies
Ecclesiastical Rites and the Rise of Civil Marriage in the Southern Colonies
Optional Civil or Ecclesiastical Marriage in the Middle Colonies
Divorce in the American Colonies
A Century and a Quarter of Marriage Legislation in the United States, 1776-1903

Please send me detailed prospectus covering Professor Howard's History of Matrimonial Institutions.

When one of your customers says, "Let me have a lively, exciting story to read on the train," always give him When Wilderness Was King.

It is the book to make him entirely oblivious to his surroundings, and indifferent to any amount of heat and dust—which is just the result he wants.

WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING is in its third edition, and is among the six best selling books in the country, according to the July BOOKMAN

WHEN a new book by an author whose previous books have sold well melts away from your counters, and re-orders become a habit, you are not surprised. Yet you are PLEASED, for you know that the PUBLIC is FICKLE and that authors may not be depended upon to repeat former successes.

BUT when an author's FIRST BOOK begins to DISAPPEAR from your shelves you are BOTH surprised and pleased;—MOSTLY PLEASED, HOWEVER, for you know that an author's first hit is apt to be his biggest book, and that your sales for such a book will INCREASE with DELIGHTFUL REGULARITY each month.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY, Akron, O., have in preparation "The Fortunes of a Free Lance," by Alfred G. Lawrence, a story of the fourteenth century and King Edward's war with France. The hero becomes a follower of Sir John Hawkwood and later a Free Companion, a name which carried terror with it through France. Such scenes as jousts, duels, sieges, etc., are described. A. B. Shute has made the illustrations.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just ready "The Crisis," by Winston Churchill, which is the seventh and concluding number of the Macmillan Paper Novel Series. They have also just ready in their Pocket American and English Classics "Selected Sermons of Jonathan Edwards," edited, with introduction and notes, by Professor H. Norman Gardiner, of Smith College. The sermons have been selected as representative of Edwards the preacher rather than of Edwards the theologian.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just ready the first published collection of poems by Eugene Barry. Many of these poems are well known, having already appeared in magazines and papers throughout the country. The majority of them are descriptive of nature and outdoor life in the West, where Mr. Barry resided for years; but there are enough of other subjects to give the contents an interesting variety. Those dealing with the sea, however, are particularly happy, because they mirror so clearly Mr. Barry's deep delight in the water and its varying moods.

THE CENTURY Co. will publish "The Rose of Old St. Louis" on July 15. The story covers somewhat the same ground as "The Crossing," but the subject is treated in a very different way. President Thomas Jefferson, Lewis and Clark, the most prominent families of old St. Louis, and the imposing figure of Black Hawk, the famous chief of the Sacs, are among the personages introduced; while across the ocean Napoleon, Talleyrand, Marbois and the leading men of the days of the first consul play a notable part in the plot. Relyea and Castaigne have illustrated it.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation a new novel by Hamblen Sears, the new president of D. Appleton & Co., entitled "A Box of Matches," which gives a picture of the present outdoor friendly life of well-mannered people, with a pretty love story and the amusing experiences of an inveterate matchmaker. They have also in preparation a novel entitled "The Flight of a Moth," by Emily Post, describing the adventures of an attractive woman who has secured liberty to do exactly as she pleases. The scenes are laid in France, Germany and England, and are faithful portraits of the social life in country houses abroad.

THE FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in preparation a story of New England life, entitled "Little Miss Dee," by Roswell Field, whose "Bondage of Ballinger," published last fall, won the hearts of thousands of discriminating readers. They have in press two small books by G. Campbell Morgan. The first, "Evangelism: a Study of Need and Opportunity," is composed of the lectures on this topic that Dr. Morgan delivered during the winter of 1903-1904 to the students of Hartford, Chicago, Berkeley and Dayton Theological Seminaries. The second book is another of Dr. Morgan's keen, sensible and spiritual studies on the great fundamentals of religion, "The Life of the Christian," in which he speaks of the nature, expression, testing and value of the Christian life.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

The author of these impressions, which are said to be extracts from the letters of a cultivated Chinaman, has done for America what was previously accomplished by Paul Blouët ["Max O'Rell"] in his "Jonathan and his continent," namely, described American men and women, with our social institutions and customs exactly as they appealed to him. His remarks about the religion of the country, and his opinions of American characteristics are singularly appropriate. The correspondence is dated 1892-1902.

Claims to be the diary of a genius. Opens with his first years on a Hungarian farm, where he endures grinding poverty. His longing for musical instruction is at last satisfied by his father, who furnishes him money to go to Prague to study. His life here and his friends are vividly described. Time brings him fame and he visits the great capitals of Europe. The story bubbles over with humor.

A story which pictures New England farm life, and also shows how drudgery may be made pleasant by the recognition of one's duties and the ready performance of them. The heroine, or as she is called "The princess in calico," is a character worthy of study, because of her winning personality, and her ability to conquer difficulties. An interesting incident in her career is a visit to Boston.

Reviews scenes and episodes of life in Gotham, dwelling on the sights of New York's Bohemia, and describing her magnificent buildings, and fine parks with other features of interest. The book is in form of a connected story, in which the hero is called Gerald De Peyster and the heroine is known as Myrtle Collis; the former is supposed to be a member of an old Knickerbocker family and the latter is said to be an art student from San Francisco whose destination is Paris. De Peyster distinguishes himself by doing the honors to a party of sight-seers, and by falling in love with Miss Collis, whose action is interesting if unconventional.

Kuhns, Oscar. Dante and the English poets from Chaucer to Tennyson. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1904. c. 5+277 p. D. cl., $1.25 net.

Effort is made to show by analysis and comparison and a study of evidences the influence of Dante on English poetry. The first resemblance in English verse to the "Divine comedy" is said to exist in the poems of Chaucer, and the opinions of English and German scholars are quoted in support of this theory. After Chaucer, Milton is studied in relation to the subject, the effect of Dante in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries is also shown, and master poets such as Byron, Shelley, Matthew Arnold, Rossetti, Browning and Tennyson are represented as having been deeply impressed by the writings of the Italian poet.

A love story which is told in a series of letters supposed to be the correspondence of two journalists of the opposite sex, who sign themselves Daphne and Lad. The first letters contain graceful compliments, and give the impressions of both writers on current events, and topics of the day with descriptions of their modes of life. These are followed by expressions of love, an unexpected revelation, and a final letter of renunciation. Ample opportunities are offered in the unique correspondence for the study of motives.

The writer gained an intimate knowledge of Indian life by long residence in India as a member of the Ramakrishna in the Hindu Quarter of Calcutta. She writes with sympathy and understanding, the eastern woman being the predominant topic of her book. But she also treats of many other sides of the life of India, the Indian Sagas, Indian caste, Islam in India, and an Indian pilgrimage, and "the synthesis of Indian thought."

The scenes are Canadian; many of the incidents occur in the vicinity of Muskeg Lake; the most interesting characters are Alberta Ransome, the descendant of English emigrants, and Lucien Merimée, a French Canadian, who believes himself destined for the priesthood. The theme of the novel is the love affair of this pair. The time is that in which the Hudson Bay Company flourished. Indians and a noted English burglar also have parts in the adventurous story.

The Pennsylvania Society was organized April 25, 1899, and incorporated February 18, 1903. It is a social club, the purpose of which is to keep alive the memory of the state of Pennsylvania. This is done by collecting and publishing historic material relating to that state from the earliest to the present times. The present volume contains Lists of council, committees and guests, a kalendar of meetings, addresses of society members and others, proceedings of the society, a description of the library, the annual sermon by G. F. Nelson, D.D., a resolution, and a monograph entitled "Pennsylvania, a primer," by Barr Ferree, Secretary. Index.

A fact that the author says should be constantly kept in mind is that "the great drama which is now being played in the Far East is the prologue to a far longer and more important one, involving the mastery of the Pacific. As such, no nation on earth is interested in it in the same degree as the United States." His argument is based on both geographic and historical foundations and is considered under the following divisions: The war and its outcome; The far east; The Pacific and the Panama Canal; The race is to the wise; Rivals in the Pacific—German, French, and Japanese; American supremacy and the Slav; Life under new conditions.

Truscott, L. Parry. The mother of Pauline. N. Y., Appleton, 1904. c. 6+297 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The story of Pauline is that of a girl who loved "not wisely but too well." Her life however differs in home environments from the majority of girls, who commit errors similar to Pauline's. While overburdened with shame the girl reluctantly makes a confession to her eldest sister, who is the only mother Pauline has ever known. The action of both women after the revelation is worthy of analysis, as is also that of Pauline's lover. This rather pathetic incident in a woman's life is made the basis of a novel for an evident purpose.

This reader follows the syllabus of historical and biographical narrative arranged for the use of boys and girls by the New York Board of Education in 1903. It contains sketches of the lives of famous men arranged to bring out biographical and dramatic elements, with topical studies in history, etc. In mythology and Greek and Roman history the topics follow each other so closely that a slight connecting link is formed; this, however, does not apply to other subjects.

Williams, Herschel. Uncle Bob and Aunt Becky's strange adventures at the World's great exposition; trip from Skowhegan through many cities to the goal of their ambition; the marvelous event of the century; 105 striking pen and ink sketches especially drawn for this work. Chic., Laird & Lee, [1904.] c. 358 p. il. D. cl., 75 c.; pap., 25 c.

A quaint old couple, with their adopted daughter Ruth, start from their home in a little village of Maine, to see the World's Exposition at St. Louis. They stop on their way at Boston, New York, and other great cities, and have many queer and amusing adventures both en route and in the Exposition grounds. Returning they visit Utah, California, New Orleans, etc., and a pretty romance is developed of which Ruth is the centre.

LIKE most other callings, that of the commercial traveller has its rules of etiquette, which, though unwritten, should nevertheless be considered binding by all who expect consideration from others, in short, by every gentleman. One of the most rigorous of these unwritten laws is that which requires one traveller to leave a fellow traveller undisturbed while engaged with a customer. An old hand hardly needs to be reminded of this; but the beginner at the very start should be made to realize the importance of allowing to the man in possession of the field full and free scope, undisturbed by the intrusion of his rivals. A traveller, to a certain extent, may guard himself against unfriendly intruders when receiving his customer at his hotel. In a measure he is also likely to be protected in large establishments where certain days, even hours, are set apart for the reception of travellers. But in an open store, where the traveller is obliged to transact his business practically in view of the whole establishment, and where his customer is liable to have his attention distracted more or less by calls from his patrons or inquiries from his assistants, it would be ill-bred in a rival to add to the difficulties of his competitor.

It happens not unfrequently—very likely through thoughtlessness rather than through malice—that the "butting-in" of another traveller takes the buyer's attention away from a business proposition at precisely that psychological moment when a straw would turn the balance either way. It is extremely difficult, if not altogether impossible, in such a case to get the buyer back again to the point where the connection was broken off, and the interrupting of a sale, especially when nearing completion, cannot but prove annoying to the man who is soliciting business.

If on entering a store the traveller should find a rival engaged with his prospective customer, it is but fair that he should withdraw as quickly and as quietly as possible, with an apology if his intrusion has been noticed. If it seems desirable to remain in the store, the one waiting his turn should make himself as inconspicuous as possible. The necessity for this will be apparent when it is considered that a buyer when he becomes conscious of the fact that other travellers are waiting to make demands upon his time, may become fidgety or worried, and dismiss the man with whom he is engaged for the time being, either empty-handed or with less consideration than he might be apt to give him if he felt under no immediate obligation to give a share of his time to other salesmen in sight. There may be but one excuse for interfering in such a case, and that is when a traveller shows an unmistakable intention to "stand off" his rivals by prolonging his interview and therefore unduly monopolizing the buyer's time. In such a case the waiting traveller who wishes to keep another appointment, or catch a particular train, may be pardoned for betraying impatience and making his presence known to his prosy friend; but even in such extreme cases it would be better if the matter could be settled with the inconsiderate traveller without annoying the buyer, because such a course might react disagreeably upon the one whose turn comes next.

If a traveller commits an indiscretion by breaking in upon another traveller, he would commit something short of a crime were he to interrupt his customer while endeavoring to make a sale himself. It would be better in such a case to abandon the field for that trip altogether, even though such a course might mean a loss to the traveller. If while engaged with a buyer one of his customers claims his attention the traveller should promptly and cheerfully retire—temporarily of course—in favor of such a client, no matter how interesting the stage, or how critical the point which his sale may have reached, bearing in mind that a man's customers have the first claim on his attention and take precedence over others in all cases. The very fact of showing readiness on such an occasion will predispose the buyer in favor of the one making the concession; and anything that tends to create pleasant relations between buyer and seller must be cultivated, regardless of every other consideration.

"OLD MICHAEL JOHNSON'S" CATALOGUE.

DR. JOHNSON in his "Dictionary" has thus noticed his native place:

"LICHFIELD, the field of the dead, a city in Staffordshire, so called from martyred Christians—Salve, magna parens!"

"Old Michael Johnson," the father of Dr. Samuel Johnson, was a respectable bookseller in this "city of martyred Christians." He attended on market-days, the neighboring towns, and had auction sales of books, prints, etc.

The following is the full title and address to his customers, of one of his very rare Auction sale catalogues, dated [Lichfield,] 1717-18.

"A CATALOGUE OF CHOICE BOOKS in all Faculties, Divinity, History, Travels, Law, Physick, Mathematicks, Philosophy, Poetry, &c., Together with Bibles, Common Prayers, Shop Books, Pocket Books, &c., Also fine French Prints for Stair cases, and large chimney pieces, Maps, large and small. To be Sold by Auction, or he who bids most, at the Talbot, in Sudbury, Worcester: The Sale to begin on Friday, the 21st of this instant March exactly at six o'clock in the afternoon, and to continue till all is sold."

"The Books to be exposed to view three days before the sale begins."

"Catalogues are given out at the place of sale, or by MICHAEL JOHNSON, of LICHFIELD."

THE CONDITIONS OF SALE.

(1.) "That he who bids most, is the buyer; but if any difference arise, which the company cannot decide, the book or books to be put to sale again."

(2.) "That all the books, for aught we know, are perfect; but if any appear otherwise, before taken away, the buyer to have the choice of taking or leaving them."

(3.) "That no person advance less than six pence each bidding, after any book comes to ten shillings; nor put in any book or set of books under half value."

* * "Any gentleman that cannot attend, may send his orders, and they shall be faithfully executed."

"Printed for Mich. Johnson, [Lichfield:] 1717-18." [8°, pp. 40.]

The following is the notice addressed

"TO ALL GENTLEMEN, LADIES AND OTHERS IN AND NEAR WORCESTER."

"I have had several Auctions in your neighborhood, as Gloucester, Tewksbury, Evesham, &c., with success, and am now to address myself, and try my fortune with you. You must not wonder that I begin every day's sale with small and common books; the reason is, a room is some time a filling, and persons of address and business seldom coming first, they are entertainment till we are full; they are never the last books of the best kind of that sort, for ordinary families and young persons, &c. But in the body of the Catalogue you will find Law, Mathematicks, History, and, for the learned in Divinity, there are Drs. South, Taylor, Tillotson, Beveridge, Flavel, &c., the best of that kind, and to please the Ladies, I have added store of fine pictures and paper hangings; and by the way, I would desire them to take notice, that the pictures shall always be put up by the noon of that day they are to be sold, that they may be viewed by day-light."

"I have no more to say, but to wish you pleased, and myself a good sale, who am

"Your humble servant,

"M. JOHNSON."

After the death of her husband, Dr. Johnson's mother continued the business, though of course on a more contracted scale. Among the names of subscribers to the "Harleian Miscellany," there appeared the name of "Sarah Johnson, Bookseller, in Lichfield."

The humble nature of her establishment may be inferred from a passage in Miss Anna Seward's "Correspondence," where she says of Lucy Porter, "from the age of 20 she boarded in Lichfield, with Dr. Johnson's mother, who still kept that bookseller's shop, by which her husband supplied the scanty means of existence, meantime, Lucy kept the best company of our little city, but would make no engagement on market-days, lest 'Granny,' as she called Mrs. Johnson, should catch cold by serving in the shop. There Lucy Porter took her place, standing behind the counter, nor thought it a disgrace to thank a poor person who purchased from her a penny battledore."

"One of Lucy's brothers subsequently bequeathed her a handsome property, with part of which she built herself a commodious house in Tamworth-Street, Lichfield, where she ended her days, in January, 1786, aged 70 years, and lies buried in the Church of St. Chad."

The bodies of Michael Johnson, his wife, and son Nathaniel, lie in the centre aisle of St. Mary's Church, Lichfield, under a large stone, which, a few days before his death, Dr. Johnson ordered to be placed there. The inscription he composed for it is generally known.

SHORTS, OUTS AND REQUISITIONS.*

THE question of shorts, outs and requisitions is one of the bug-a-boos of a buyer's existence.

The most successful way, in our experience, of handling this has been to have a uniform requisition blank, printed and numbered, issued by the stockman, or order clerk, as the case may be, who dates, signs his name, and states whether the stock requisition is for a special order, and whether the customer is in a hurry for it or is willing to wait for freight shipment.

The maintenance of stock has been best accomplished by having a stock record book ruled with twenty-six double columns to the leaf. Every two weeks the stock clerk makes a memorandum of the amount of stock on hand. The buyer indicates in the second of the double columns what he has ordered, which is checked off by the stock clerk when the stock is received, and that addition naturally appears in the next stock inventory.

* Paper read at the "Salesmen's Improvement" meeting of the Pittsburg Booksellers and Stationers' Association, by H. C. Smalley, of the Eichbaum Lithographing and Printing Co.

This book at the end of the year shows at a glance just what has been used during the year. The first column shows stock on hand January 1; the second columns, each two weeks, show what has been ordered, and the last column shows stock on hand at the close of the year.

To keep up stock, the clerks should be instructed to note as they are filling orders or dusting stock when items are low, and the department manager should be informed every day of such shorts. In addition to this, on the department manager's desk should be an "out" and "want" book, in which should be noted every article inquired for as well as everything noticed to be short.

THE PERIODICAL PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE PERIODICAL PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION, at its annual business meeting, held at Lake Placid, in the Adirondacks, N. Y., in the second week in June, elected Frank N. Doubleday, publisher of the World's Work, and Country Life in America, president; Arthur T. Vance, editor of the Woman's Home Companion, vice-president; F. L. Colver, publisher of Leslie's Monthly Magazine, secretary; and Oswar W. Brady, of McClure's Magazine, treasurer.

The association now includes in its membership sixty well-known magazine publishers and editors.

BOOKS IN DEMAND.

A CANADIAN edition of Joseph C. Lincoln's popular novel, "Cap'n Eri," is just being published by a Toronto firm by arrangement with A. S. Barnes & Co.

It is gratifying to note that the University of Chicago Press has been obliged to put the first part of "The Code of Hammurabi," edited by Dr. Robert Francis Harper, to press a second time.

"WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING" is now in its third edition, and A. C. McClurg & Co. expect immediately to put a fourth to press. They have placed editions in England and in Canada, and have also received orders from Honolulu for this book. It figures among the best-selling six books in this month's list of The Bookman.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JOSEPH WILLIAMSON, for over twenty years connected with the Williamson Law Book Company, of Rochester, N. Y., died on May 29, aged fifty-one. Mr. Williamson was born in Rochester, November 3, 1852. After leaving school he obtained a situation in the Rochester branch of the American Tract Society, with which he remained until about 1879. The next four years he was in the employ of Steele & Avery, and in 1884 he took charge of the stationery department of the Williamson Law Book Company, a position he held until his death. Mr. Williamson, by his unflinching good humor and genial ways, his strict integrity and upright character, made friends and admirers of all with whom he came into contact. At a meeting of the stockholders of the Williamson Company the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That in the sudden death of our brother and friend the company has been deprived of one who had endeared himself to us all. That we wish to express our esteem and love for him as a business associate and man, and deplore his untimely death in the fullness of his powers. That we tender to his widow our fullest sympathy in her bereavement.

CLEMENT WILLIAM SCOTT, the well-known English dramatic critic, died in London, June 25. Mr. Scott was born at Christ Church parsonage, Hoxton, London, October 6, 1841. After leaving Marlborough College, Wiltshire, he was appointed to a clerkship in the war office in 1860, and retired on a pension in 1879. He then joined the editorial staff of the London Daily Telegraph, to which paper he had contributed dramatic criticisms since 1873. For years he had also contributed dramatic criticisms to the Illustrated London News, Punch, Truth and other publications. He published "Lays of a Londoner," "Blossom Land," "The Fate of Fenella," "Cherry Ceylon," "Pictures of the World," "The Drama of Yesterday and To-day," etc. Mr. Scott's power was sufficient to make or mar a play until about six years ago, when in an evil hour he wrote for Great Thoughts an article on the morals of the stage, in which he declared that "the freedom of life, speech, and gesture behind the curtain renders it almost impossible for a woman to preserve that simplicity of manner which is her greatest charm," and, further, that an actress "who endeavors to keep her purity is almost of necessity foredoomed to failure in her career." Scott's usefulness as a dramatic critic was ended after the storm that his article raised subsided, and he was asked to resign the position he held on the Daily Telegraph for upwards of twenty-five years. In 1899 Mr. Scott visited America, where he wrote some articles on the stage and reported the Molineux trial for a New York paper. After his return to England Scott started The Free Lance, but it was not a success. Only last week, on June 21, a number of the best known actors and actresses of the British metropolis, forgiving the man whose attack had come to be regarded as the result of a moment of aberration, gave a monster benefit for him, which netted $6250.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

PROFESSOR ARMINIUS VAMBERY, the Hungarian linguist and traveller, has just finished his autobiography and sent it to the printer. It will be published probably under the title of "The Story of My Struggle."

THERE is a rumor afloat that G. Bernard Shaw has written a new play to be produced by the Irish Dramatic Society. The rumor also says it has to deal with the Englishman in Ireland. He has already given a picture of the American in England, as seen by Shaw, in "Man and Superman," recently brought out by Brentano's.

FREDERICK RUSSELL BURTON, author and composer, of No. 1 Hamilton Avenue, Yonkers, N. Y., is at work on a collection of "Songs of the Ojibways." The work will contain an account of Mr. Burton's experiences among the red men, some observations upon aboriginal music, and a complete collection of the songs already preserved by him and those he expects to discover this summer.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The International Quarterly will hereafter be published by Fox, Duffield & Co., of New York.

THE first number of The Celtic Review will be published in London on July 15. It is intended to foster interest in Celtic literature and the new Irish revival.

WE are authorized to say that Mr. McClure has no intention of bringing out another magazine, as has been reported in various parts of the country. To make McClure's Magazine the very excellent periodical that it is takes up about all the time that Mr. McClure and his editorial staff can devote at present to journalism.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ABERDEEN, S. DAKOTA.—Guhin Brothers, of Manitowoc, Wis., both school teachers, will open a book, stationery and confectionery store here. Aberdeen is a promising town of seven thousand inhabitants, and being the center of several railroads has good shipping facilities.

ALBANY, N. Y.—John D. Walker, formerly of 26 De Graaf Building, has removed to 65 State Street, at the corner of James, where he will continue in the business of buying and selling old and rare books, engravings, etc.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—A. G. Cooper & Sons, 1215 Bedford Avenue, have gone out of the book business.

CINCINNATI, O.—A. B. Blinn, old book specialist, has removed to the Blymer Building, (Room 18,) 514 Main Street.

CINCINNATI, O.—At the recent session of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church the Rev. Henry C. Jennings and Edwin R. Graham were elected publishing agents for the Western Methodist Book Concern. Mr. Graham, the new agent, has, for a number of years, been Western representative for Houghton, Mifflin & Co. and needs no introduction to the booktrade.

MERIDIAN, MISS.—Boswell Bros., booksellers, have sold out.

NEW YORK CITY.—Maynard, Merrill & Co. have removed to the Mercantile Building, 44 East Twenty-third Street, at the southwest corner of Fourth Avenue.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Daly & Curran, booksellers, have removed from Powell Street to 857 Geary Street.

SAYRE, PA.—George A. Loop has opened a book, news and stationery store at 126 W. Lockhart Street, here, not at Athens, as was reported last week. Publishers and manufacturers will please note the correct address.

TRENTON, N. J.—The Tabard Inn Corporation has been incorporated in New Jersey with a capital stock of $12,500,000. The company is a consolidation of the Booklovers' Library, Philadelphia Bookstore Company, of Camden, N. J., Library Publishing Company and the Tabard Inn Corporation. The officers are Seymour Eaton, president; John E. Bryant, secretary, and Frederick W. Steirs, treasurer.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

W. ARTHUR GRAY, proprietor of the publishing firm of Forbes & Company, Boston, received the degree of A.B. at the recent Harvard commencement.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have in preparation a historical romance for young people entitled "The Stone Cutter of Memphis," a tale of life in ancient Egypt, by W. Patrick Kelly, author of "Schoolboys Three."

HENRY CAREY BAIRD & Co., of Philadelphia, call the attention of the trade to the fact that they are in no way connected or acquainted with a concern that under the name of "Henry C. Baird, New York and Philadelphia," has been soliciting advertisements for a "States Business Advertiser."

T. WERNER LAURIE, for many years manager for T. Fisher Unwin, of London, will shortly begin publishing on his own account. He would like to hear from American publishers having novels, etc., for sale suited to the English market. His address is Clifford's Inn, Fleet Street, London.

THE WILLIAM COLLINS COMPANY, of London and Glasgow, announce that they are about to open their own warehouse at 23 East Twentieth Street, New York, where they will keep in stock a full line of their large and varied lines of publications, including a great variety of Bibles.

GRANT RICHARDS, London, has just brought out in book form W. L. Courtney's essays on the work of Maurice Maeterlinck which originally appeared in the London Daily Telegraph. The volume is entitled "The Development of Maeterlinck," and contains also sketches of D'Annunzio, Turgenieff, Tolstoy, Gorky and Merejkowski.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will hereafter publish the two volumes by Dr. William W. Hastings, "Manual of Physical Measurements, Boys," and "Manual of Physical Measurements, Boys and Girls." The purpose of these books is to promote a more widespread interest in physical training, and to provide a brief practical form of measurements.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS is about to publish Baron de Tocqueville's "L'Ancien Régime," edited by G. W. Headlam, who has written a short introduction explaining De Tocqueville's position among scientific historians, together with a few notes of a more or less elementary kind. A text purified from misprints, which are frequent in the French editions, has long been wanted in this country.

PAUL ELDER & COMPANY announce for fall publication, in a special limited edition, "Upland Pastures," a series of out-of-door essays by Adeline Knapp that deal with the beautiful things of spring and summer in California. The volume will have rubricated titles and initials and a photogravure of a painting made for the book by William Keith. They have also in preparation a new "Cynic's Calendar of Revised Wisdom for 1905."

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation a posthumous story by Paul Leicester Ford, the scene of which is laid in New York at the time of the Revolution. It will probably be called "Love Finds the Way." It will be issued uniform with Ford's popular book "Wanted: a Matchmaker." Harrison Fisher has provided a number of full-page illustrations in color, and numerous colored decorations have been made by Margaret Armstrong.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will bring out this fall, in two volumes, Miss Tarbell's remarkable "History of the Standard Oil Company," which two years ago began its career as a serial in McClure's Magazine. The history, which by general consent is one of the greatest contributions to periodical literature of recent years, will be revised for publication in book form and be supplemented by a full appendix of authorities. The work will also be very fully illustrated.

DANA ESTES & Co. will publish in the fall an edition of Tolstoy's works, in twenty-four volumes, translated by Professor Leo Wiener, which will contain a concordance of 100 closely-printed pages, also, the "Critique of Dogmatic Theology," poems written in youth, pamphlets, letters and short stories not included in English editions. They have also in preparation a twelve-volume edition of "The Works of Frederic Marryat." Each of the novels will have an introduction by William L. Courtney, editor of The Fortnightly Review.

THE SCOTT-THAW COMPANY, New York, will publish shortly a book entitled "Our Political Drama," which is intended to give a readable survey of such affairs in the political world as are associated with and peculiar to the business of electing presidents. The author divides his work into three sections, the first dealing with national conventions and their rise and progress, the second with the more distinguished campaigns which have become part of the political history of America, and the third with the great candidates who have figured in the conventions and campaigns.

LAIRD & LEE, Chicago, will shortly publish a work on "Modern Electricity," by James Henry, M. E. Hora and Karl J. Hora, intended as a text-book for students and expert engineers and as a guide for beginners. Every problem is worked out and mathematically demonstrated. Special instruction is given relating to the construction of power plants and electric railways, with two diagrams. The book is illustrated with 150 drawings. They have under way "Turk," a new novel by Opie Read, which has to do with Southern feuds and social discontent, and incidentally describes life in the penitentiary.

GEORGE W. JACOBS & Co. will publish shortly a novel book for young people, entitled "The Picture Screen," by Emily Goldsmith Gerson, which is made up of twenty-two short stories woven into one continuous narrative with the same characters. The framework upon which the separate stories are hung is a large screen covered with attractive pictures, which stands at the foot of the heroine's bed, and the manner in which the separate tales have been wrought into one story is said to be decidedly ingenious. They have in preparation for the fall a life of Abraham Lincoln in the series of American Crisis Biographies, by Dr. Ellis P. Oberholtzer, the editor of the series.

HENRY FROWDE will publish in the fall for the Cambridge University Press the first volume of their edition of the complete works of Beaumont and Fletcher, which will form part of the series of Cambridge English Classics, and will be issued in the same form and at the same price for each volume as Hobbes's "Leviathan" and the other books of the series. The text will be edited by Arnold Glover, editor of Boswell's "Johnson," and joint editor of Hazlitt's collected works. It is being set up from a copy of the second folio, the spelling, punctuation, and readings of which will be preserved. Each volume will contain an appendix, giving the variations of the earlier folio and of the quartos.

L. C. PAGE & Co. announce for immediate publication a work entitled "Cathedrals of Southern France," supplementing the work on "Cathedrals of Northern France," by Francis Miltoun, with illustrations by Blanche McManus, brought out by them last year. The new work is by the same author and artist—Miss McManus having devoted the greater part of last autumn and winter to a study of the country and the production of over 150 of present-day and ci-devant cathedral churches. The forthcoming work and its predecessor will present practically a panorama of the chief ecclesiastical monuments of France. The Messrs. Page have in preparation a four-volume edition of Disraeli's novels, including "Vivian Grey," "Coningsby," "Sibyl" and "Tancred."

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just brought out a timely work in two volumes, entitled "The Trail of Lewis and Clark, 1804-1904," by Olin D. Wheeler, who tells the story of the great exploration across the continent in 1804 to 1806, and gives a description of the old trail, based upon actual travel over it, and of the changes found a century later.

The work is very fully illustrated. They have also just ready a reprint, in two handsome volumes, of Frederick Law Olmsted's "Journey in the Seaboard Slave States in the Years 1853-1854, with remarks on their economy," originally issued in 1856, with a biographical sketch by Frederick Law Olmsted, Jr., and an introduction by Professor William P. Trent; "The English People," a study of their political psychology, by Émile Boutmy, translated from the French by E. English, with an introduction by John E. Courtenay Bodley; "The Story of Anglo-Saxon Institutions, or, the development of constitutional government," by Sidney C. Tapp, who traces the rise of local government and constitutional law; "A Mediæval Princess," a record of the varied fortunes of Jacqueline, Countess of Holland, last independent sovereign in Holland, Zealand and Hainaut, together with an account of her conflict with Philip, Duke of Burgundy, 1401-1436, by Ruth Putnam, with a number of illustrations, portraits and facsimiles; also, a volume of verses by Enid Welsford, a little girl of twelve years, entitled "The Seagulls," with an introduction by R. Bosworth Smith.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS are about to bring out the third edition of "Baedeker's Handbook to the United States," which has been very carefully revised and brought up to date. Special attention has been devoted to the various routes leading to St. Louis, and a small pamphlet containing a short description and a good plan of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is to be given away with all copies of the "Handbook" sold during the duration of the World's Fair. The practical utility of the "Handbook" has been considerably increased by the addition of a large number of new maps and plans. Among the maps are excellent ones of Mexico, the Berkshire Hills, the environs of Old Point Comfort, the environs of New York, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and the environs of Colorado Springs. The new plans are those of the City of Mexico, the lower part of the city of New York, (on an enlarged scale,) Brooklyn, Boston, (to show its transportation lines,) Cambridge and Harvard, Detroit, New Haven and Yale, and Indianapolis. The changes that have taken place in the United States since the publication of the last edition has necessitated the practical re-writing of the volume; and in spite of all attempts to maintain a Baedekerian standard of condensation, the new edition will contain not far short of a hundred pages more matter than the second edition. The general work of re-editing has been in the hands of James F. Muirhead, the original writer of the volume, but he has received much competent aid from other workers. Among these may be mentioned Dr. Benjamin Ellis Martin, of New York, who specially visited the Southern States and California and revised the portions of the book relating to these districts. Where necessary the various monographs in the introductory part of the "Handbook" have been revised by the distinguished specialists by whom they were written. In view of the growing favor bestowed on the "Handbook" by native travellers, an effort has been made in this edition to lay greater stress on such points of scenic, historic and literary interest as appeal more particularly to the American rather than to the foreign tourist.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

B. G. TEUBNER, Leipzig and Berlin, has just brought out the first part of a comprehensive bibliography of German universities, containing a classified index of printed books and essays on the German university system to the end of 1899, edited by Wilhelm Erman and Ewald Horn. (Bibliographie der deutschen Universitäten: systematisch geordnetes Verzeichnis der bis Ende 1899 gedruckten Büchern und Aufsätze über das deutsche Universitätswesen. Im Auftrage des Preussischen Unterrichts-Ministeriums bearbeitet von W: Erman und Ewald Horn. Erster, Allgemeiner Teil, unter Mitwirkung von E. Horn bearbeitet von W: Erman.) Under twenty-four heads the compilers treat of the existence and object of the university, the seat of the university, its history and statistics, constitution and administration, jurisdiction and discipline, academic offices and honors, faculties, teachers, officers, the student as an academic citizen, endowing and fitting out universities, economic relations of university teachers, academic degrees, study, including the study of the separate sciences, academic manners and customs, student life, fraternities and societies, student songs, poetic, satiric and humorous descriptions of university life, and pictorial descriptions of student life. In all there are 17,363 references. (836 p. 8°, pap.)

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Edward Baker, 14 John Bright St., Birmingham, Eng., Sports, natural history in all its branches, science, farming, etc. (No. 221, 719 titles.)—Gustav Fock, Leipzig, Saxony, Art, illustrated works, architecture, etc. (No. 60, 1554 titles.)—*George H. PICK-UPS.

MISLEADING BOOK-TITLES.—"A forester became a subscriber to a 'Lexicon of Indo-Germanic Roots' in the belief that it dealt with botanical roots; an officer ordered at a second-hand bookseller's the Germanist work of Albrecht, 'Über die Gewere,' in the belief that it was concerned with firearms; [we might parallel these cases by that of a theologian in England who purchased a work on equity entitled 'Election, Redemption, and Conversion']—is the contract null in these cases on the ground of essential error?"—From "Law in Daily Life," published by Oxford University Press.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

True "Republicanism; or, the Real and Ideal in Politics

By FRANK PRESTON STEARNS

A thoughtful consideration of the real and ideal in American politics as illustrated by the declarations and acts of our law-makers, and by the achievements of certain distinguished American figures, such as Alexander Hamilton and Lincoln.

With portrait. 12mo. Cloth, $1.50 net. Postage extra.

Present-Day Japan

By AUGUSTA M. CAMPBELL DAVIDSON, M.A.

The book is written in a bright and picturesque style. It contains descriptions of town and country customs, sketches of present-day life and character in Tokyo and elsewhere, of the scenery of famous places, with their legends and associations, of the drama of the nation, and of its religious creeds, etc.; and is profusely illustrated by photographs and drawings made by the author.

Colored frontispiece and 73 illustrations. Decorated cloth, $4.50 net.

Olive Latham

By Mrs. E. L. VOYNICH

Author of "Jack Raymond," "The Gadfly."

"It is extremely improbable that Mrs. E. L. Voynich's latest novel will ever be permitted to cross the boundary line into the domain of the great white Czar. No more scathing denunciation of Muscovite official cruelty and Muscovite private misery and distress has appeared for a considerable time. 'Olive Latham' will be found continuously interesting and exceedingly well written."—Philadelphia Record.

NOTES IN SEASON.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just published "The Motor Pirate," by G. Sidney Paternoster, a rattling good yarn by a clever journalist, well known in England for his realistic sketches of London slum life.

ORANGE JUDD Co. will issue July 13 "A Swim for Life," a true story of one of the thrilling adventures of the editor of the American Agriculturist. The book is also printed in typewriter type, and has the appearance of a letter written to friends. The latter is an edition de luxe.

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have in preparation for the holiday season a line of colored toy-books, in the preparation of which some of the best artists have co-operated with the most expert color printers. The prices range from two cents each for dainty paper-covered book to $2.25 for a large quarto in fancy board covers.

FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY publish today "The Little Vanities of Mrs. Whittaker," a new novel by the author of "Bootle's Baby," an amusing and lifelike bit of domestic comedy, telling in the author's lightest and brightest style the love story of an original heroine, with a bias toward independent thought and action in every sphere of life.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will publish on the 20th inst. "The Challoners," a new story by E. F. Benson, author of "Dodo," etc. The story is remarkable for the presentation of three studies in character—a brother and sister who are alike in their sympathies and tastes, and a father who refuses to abandon his religious prejudices even when confronted with the loss of his children.

THE SAALFIELD PUBLISHING COMPANY are about to bring out a biography of Edwin M. Stanton, the "autocrat of rebellion, reconstruction and emancipation," by Frank Abial Flower. The volume will contain much new matter concerning the great Secretary of War, Lincoln, Grant, McClellan, Johnson and the War Office. It will have over fifty half-tone illustrations and will be sold only by subscription.

DANA ESTES & COMPANY published on the 7th inst. "A Short History of Ancient Egypt," by Percy E. Newberry and John Garstang. This is a brief history of Ancient Egypt from the founding of the monarchy until the disintegration of the empire three thousand years afterward. The progress made by modern research seems to furnish sufficient authority for setting aside in large part the traditions of later historians and for accepting instead the evidence of the monuments. The joint authors are experienced students of Egyptian archaeology, and their explorations and discoveries are said to have reversed many generally accepted theories.

LAIRD & LEE provide for the traveller to the St. Louis Exposition three timely publications: "Glimpses of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition and City of St. Louis," a souvenir collection of views, including 32 colored pictures and nearly 200 black and white illustrations of buildings, grounds and city; "Uncle Bob's and Aunt Becky's Strange Adventures at the St. Louis Exposition," an amusing account of the experiences of a quaint old couple, who leave home in an oxcart but return from St. Louis in an automobile; and their "Standard Pocket Guide and Time Saver," giving all possible information, hints and directions for sightseers, map and plans of buildings. They have ready for early holiday orders "Santa Claus' Candy Circus," an entertaining collection of verses and colored pictures, by Olive Aye, attractively bound.

Crozier, W. Armstrong. Crozier's general armory: a registry of American families entitled to coat armor. N. Y., published for the Genealogical Soc. by Fox, Duffield & Co., 1904. c. 155 p. O. cl., $3 net.

In this second edition of the present work data relative to eight hundred additional families have been included, so that the Registry now offers descriptions of nearly two thousand coats of arms, with the name of the first of the family in America, the date of his arrival and place of settlement, and, in the majority of instances, the town or country whence he came. The plan of the work resembles in the main that of Burke's "General armory in England," except that the latter includes only the arms of persons of British ancestry, whereas the American book goes farther, including the arms of those whose ancestors came from Continental Europe.

About a year ago an article appeared in a New York daily entitled "The finding of the widow's mite through the spirit of Henry Ward Beecher." Mr. Funk claims that the narrative in many respects was erroneous, and gives the true story now, as he knew it, of this remarkable psychic fact, and also describes many other psychological phenomena that he has witnessed and helped investigate, during the past twenty-five years. The chief object of the work is to interest the public generally in the subject, and incite further investigation. A partial bibliography is given of spiritualistic and psychic literature. Index.

Letters originally published in 1853, in the New York Daily Times, under the signature of "Yeo-man." They describe what was most interesting, amusing, and instructive to the writer, during the first three of fourteen months' travelling in our then slave states; using the latter experience to correct the erroneous impressions of the earlier. This is a reprint of the revised edition published in book form in 1856. The work gives permanent shape to a phase of southern life now past away.

The manuscript of a "River journey," first sketched by Miss Nellie L. Helm, was left by Colonel Parker unfinished, but so near completion that the publishers decided to have the existing text revised and the missing chapters supplied in accordance with the plan originally outlined. In order that the work might be kept as far as possible in harmony with the spirit of the previous work, the members of the faculty long associated with Colonel Parker were consulted and Miss Violet Deratt now connected with the School of Education, University of Chicago, was engaged to prepare the manuscript for publication.—Publisher's note.

Jacoba (Jacqueline) of Bavaria or Holland, daughter of William vi. of Holland, is "The mediæval princess" whose interesting and romantic history is recounted. The most notable incident in the career of this Princess was her conflict with the Duke of Burgundy to whom she surrendered her land in 1433; much consideration is given also to her unhappy domestic relations and to the events that occurred during the imprisonment of Jacqueline in Grafenstein, Ghent, 1425. Many personages famous in the history of the Netherlands are introduced. Indexed. Bibliography (8 p.).

A novel which gives a detailed account of the exciting and varied adventures of a young Chicago matron, who tired of her home environments, and thought she saw in club life a means of social betterment. As a club woman she is brought in contact with many society women and has ample op-opportunities to study the motives of the average feminine club member. The heroine finally becomes so fascinated with the new sphere she has entered that she sacrifices her home interests; at this crisis her husband intervenes; the action of both is interesting thereafter.

As originally prepared, the manuscript of Mr. Wheeler contained copious extracts from the journals of Lewis and Clark and from the writings of later but early explorers of the west. These quotations however have been largely eliminated, as they made the narrative too long. In the narrative proper, it has been the aim, first, to recount the great epic story of Lewis and Clark; second, to supplement this with such material, drawn from later explorers, as bears upon and emphasizes or accentuates the achievements of the original pathfinders; third, to interpret, amplify, and criticize such parts of the original narrative as the studies and explorations of the writer, one hundred years later, seemed to render advisable, etc.

BOOK EXHIBITS AT THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION.

If the Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893 was overwhelming in mass and detail, the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is simply appalling in its magnificent distances and variety of exhibits. There is so much spread out before one's eyes, so much unfolded for one's comprehension that the very attempt to grasp even the ensemble is a weariness to the mind. Of course, after a person has realized the hopelessness of the situation he accommodates his mentality to the work before him, and absorbs what he can assimilate, and lets the rest go; or, rather, he accommodates his mentality until his body rebels and then as-simulates all he has been able to absorb, for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is too big a thing. Educationally it does not seem possible that any other exposition can ever again be so big, the peculiar national conditions of the past three or four years having tended to its scope of development.

But the Louisiana Purchase Exposition is more educational in the broad sense of the word than in the strictly bookish, for while the world was never so full of books, and books were never so easily obtainable, there are comparatively few book exhibits, and, among American publishers, few large exhibits. There are perhaps sufficient displays and enough exhibitors, but such ranking firms as Charles Scribner's Sons, Harper & Brothers and Houghton, Mifflin & Co., to mention but a few of the absentees, are missed.

It is the Palace of Liberal Arts which is distinctively the publishers' headquarters, the largest displays both of American and foreign publishing houses being found within its precincts—one cannot say "grouped," for they are decidedly scattered—as well as the lithographic, photographic and other lines pertaining to the section of Graphic Arts. Entering this ivory palace at the west entrance, (as shown upon the ground plan below,) we begin at Aisle B, Section 20A with the first instalment of exhibits of interest to the publisher.

GROUND PLAN SHOWING INSTALLATION ARRANGEMENT OF PALACE OF LIBERAL ARTS.

Passing the booth where Coe's Gilding Wheels are being demonstrated upon book covers, and the adjoining booth, where the old Denver Rocky Mountain News, (now the News-Times and property of Senator T. M. Patterson,) owns to the distinction of being the only newspaper exhibit on the grounds, we come to the very modest space secured by the Century Company, where owing to the poor arrangement of light, one with difficulty notes that the case contains some handsomely bound volumes of the "Century Dictionary," one particularly fine one in brown-and-gold, a collection of late novels, and a conspicuous showing of the Century and St. Nicholas magazines. A few original drawings and framed engravings complete the show, which was put in place, we understand, by Mr. Peacock, but which is without a special custodian for the term of the exposition.

The J. B. Lippincott Co. adjoins the Century section, and with unanimous harmony of design has its books in a tightly-shut case and no one in charge. Thackeray, in blue half morocco, looks well through the glass, as does Chambers's Encyclopædia in a half morocco dress-up. The pièce de résistance of this book feast, by reason of its size and bright binding, is Fox's "Atlas of Diseases of the Skin and Treatment of Smallpox." The Variorum Shakespeare, and Allibone's "Poetical Quotations" and "Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors," and a few new books, are also shown.

The next exhibit is located in Block 20A, Aisle 1, and is that of the Christian Science Publishing Co., with an attendant in temporary charge, who will later give place to a permanent superintendent. The display is of strictly denominational books, including "Science and Health, with a Key to the Scriptures," and others of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy's work, bound volumes of the Christian Science Journal the Christian Science Herald, (in German,) the Christian Science Quarterly and a collection of pamphlets and Oxford Bibles.

The National Magazine, of Boston, in Block 21, on Aisle C, publishes the only magazine on the grounds, and includes in its exhibit the work from type to cover, lithographing and all. On Block 11D the Association of Amateur Journalists exhibits about 400 publications, in all sizes, styles of type and variety of title, ranging from Greek names down to the plain, unvarnished "Chump."

With Laird & Lee, in Block 61, Section 2, we strike the first large exhibit of books, and these in charge of Mrs. Grace Duffie Boylan. The walls are hung with dark green and are lightened with attractive lithographs. The collection is largely of practical mechanical and electrical works. They direct particular attention to their new "Standard Webster" as particularly timely, incorporating as it does a map showing the original Louisiana Purchase Territory, with dates of various cedings, etc. Their "Salva-Webster Spanish Dictionary" is receiving a practical test among the various exhibitors in their intercourse with exhibitors and visitors from South America and from our new possessions. This firm has a "Pocket Guide to the Exposition," which is very complete and practical. They expect Herschel Williams's story of "Uncle Bob and Aunt Becky's Adventures at the World's Fair" to fully attain the vogue enjoyed by "Uncle Jeremiah" in 1893.

Tunison's maps and the booth of the American Bible Society—in which latter display there are some old ms.—adjoin the large exhibit of the Concordia Publishing House of St. Louis, which has a very prominent location on Block 2, Aisle B, under the management of Edward W. Stelloh. Being the official publishers of the "Lutheran Church Synod of Missouri, Ohio and Other States," their collection of theological books and church histories is very comprehensive. Their latest large work is a complete edition of Luther's works, richly bound in Persian leather, of which only three [index] volumes are lacking to perfect the set. Handsome sets of Dr. Walther's theological works, Dr. Graebour's "Church History," and Dr. Storckhardt's "History of the Old and New Testament" are shown upon convenient shelves, and the walls are hung with kindergarten charts in colors. In the Educational Building this firm has another large exhibit confined to textbooks and charts.

In Block B, on the northeast aisle, is Rand, McNally & Co.'s large and comprehensive exhibit of maps, globes and atlases, and diagonally across is a small exhibit by A. C. McClurg & Co., with no one in charge. In Block 12, on the cross-section of two aisles, is very conspicuously located the attractive exhibit of Funk & Wagnalls Company, under the direction of Carl F. Pistor. The walls are covered with original drawings used in their publications from the pencils of such artists as Freeland A. Carter, Will Crawford, Frank French, Edwin Deming, C. M. Relyea, De Thulstrup, Sancha and others. A revolving stand in the centre of the display shows the progressive steps in lithographing the color pages of the "Standard Dictionary," from the first impression on stone to the twenty-fourth and final printing. Special sets of the "Standard Dictionary," bound for the exposition in maroon, brown and green levant, are on display, together with the "Jewish Encyclopædia," "Dictionary for the Blind" and a collection of Columbian Historical Novels. The Funk & Wagnalls Company have also an exhibit of dictionaries and readers in Block 6 of the Educational Building.

The Bobbs-Merrill Company are in Block 12 in a charmingly arranged booth, opposite the entrance of which a life-size oil portrait of James Whitcomb Riley smiles a welcome to visitors. The display is in charge of Miss Frances E. Walker. Original drawings and mss. decorate the wall. Among the artists represented are Howard Chandler Christy, De Thulstrup, Will Vawter, Fred Yohn, Cecil Clay, Fanny Cory, Castaigne and Virginia Keep. An original ms. of "When Knighthood Was in Flower" shows no less than five changes in title before the final christening took place. Other original mss. are pages from the pens of George Ade, Francis Lynde, Elizabeth Miller, Edward Eggleston and other well-known authors whose books have been published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company. A case of recent publications in special bindings for the Fair of tree calf, morocco and levant, is shown.

In Section B 54 is the Louisiana State collection of authors, under charge of Miss Jenny Wilde. It contains some excellent relief maps of New Orleans in 1803 at the date of the Louisiana Purchase, in 1903, a hundred years after, and of the present levee system of the Mississippi through the State of Louisiana. A lot of rare old books, mss. and atlases, loaned by William Beer, librarian of the Howard Memorial Library of New Orleans, add to the interest of the exhibit.

With the foregoing closes the list of distinctive exhibits by American publishers in the Palace of Liberal Arts. We must not, however, fail to notice the interest taken in the technical art of bookmaking by a few other exhibitors, some specimens of American workmanship being shown that cannot be excelled in the Old World. In illuminated and decorated bindings the Frederick J. Quimby Co. is showing by way of illustration just how they print on a hand press, on real parchment, some pages of their $200,000 edition of Paul De Kock's works, after which artists will supply the marginal illuminations, head and tail pieces and experts will bind, (in their exhibit in Section 43A on Aisle F.) The completed covers of French levant, inlaid through to the board in Holland tulips and lilies of France, which are shown in this exhibit, are exquisite productions. P. K. Fitzhugh is in charge of the work.

Ringer & Hertzberg, of Chicago, show a fine exhibit of what can be done in America with skins, board and an artist hand, their crowning achievement being Sloan's "Life of Napoleon," mounted as a quarto and extended to twelve volumes. The covers and doublures are in levant hand-tooled. Various other hand-tooled work is shown and reflects creditably upon the skill of their workmanship. The firm is represented by M. J. Levy, and is the only American bookbinder exhibiting.

EDUCATIONAL BOOK EXHIBITS.

In the Palace of Education and Social Economy there is a Publishers' Row, and pretty nearly all the rest of the American publishers exhibiting are to be found here. The Vedanta Society has a case of their publications at the extreme southwest corner of the building, and from this across the western end extends what is called the Publishers' Row.

In this section Rand, McNally & Co. have a very handsome Flemish case of kindergarten, primary and supplementary textbooks, (with Davenport seats and a ledge that is most convenient for the tired wayfarer,) together with a school map display. Adjoining is the large exhibit of A. W. Mumford & Co., of Chicago, in charge of L. A. Dyer. The walls of this exhibit are appropriately hung with the color plates used in their magazine Birds and Nature. Their collection of kindergarten nature textbooks is very complete. C. W. Bardeen & Co., of Syracuse, N. Y., show books for teachers, and Silver, Burdett & Co., of New York, school and college textbooks, musical instruction books and standard literature.

Next in order comes the American Book

Company, with Mr. Fitzpatrick in charge, showing a large display of school and college textbooks, and glass cases illustrating printing, bookmaking and map color work. They also show some curiosities in the way of pirated readers from photographic plates. Among these are Japanese copies of the old "National Reader" and a Chinese translation of Steele's "Physics." A monument to the Spencerian system is a wall panel copy of the Declaration of Independence, profusely illustrated, the entire work being from the hand and pen of Lyman P. Spencer.

Then follows the Prang Educational Co., represented by Miss Grubb, a supervisor of drawing in the Davenport, Iowa, schools. The walls here are decorated with oleographs of classical subjects and original drawings in border panels, and there is a full display of art textbooks.

The large exhibit of Ginn & Company's textbook publications is next in order, with Miss Williams in charge, the walls being hung with original drawings by Thompson-Seton, animal pictures by Copeland, framed charts of Fry's "New Grammar School Geography" and pen-and-ink sketches by Colby.

Dodd, Mead & Co. in Section 7 on the same aisle, represented by J. F. Harrington, are the most optimistic of all the publishers, their exhibit consisting principally of the "International Encyclopædia," for which they are taking orders by the score, while upon their walls they are testing the excellence of their lithographed plates by hanging them beside the original color plates. They are also particularizing an eight-volume set of the "Original Journals of Lewis and Clark," with notes and correspondence of the party, photo facsimiles of the diary pages and the first map of the Missouri River, the work edited by Reuben Gold Thwaites.

The Webster's International Dictionary exhibit of G. & C. Merriam & Co. is under the care of A. C. Macdonald, the fittings of the booth being the Merriam property and very handsome and substantial. George L. Stitt represents the Educational Publishing Co., which is making a special display of the Augsburg Drawing System, plates, etc., and the two school journals, Primary Education and Popular Educator, and is the last of the publishers on Aisle 1, otherwise Publishers' Row.

STATE AND SPECIAL BOOK EXHIBITS.

In the Forestry, Fish and Game Building Doubleday, Page & Co. are making a special exhibit of their Nature Library, under the supervision of J. H. Brown. Colorado has a magazine exhibit, Outdoor Life, of Denver, with Miss Bessie Hortop as World's Fair representative. Forest and Stream has a small exhibit, as has also Arboriculture.

There are few books in the state buildings, Indiana alone showing any collection of consequence. Iowa has a couple of cases of Iowa authors, but in the Anthropological Building has a $10,000 collection of maps and mss., one of the most interesting historical exhibits on the grounds. Speaking of historical exhibits, the St. Louis University shows a number of original mss. of Father de Smet.

LIBRARY EXHIBITS.

In library exhibits the Congressional in the Government Building is, of course, the exhibit of the Fair, and is divided into two sections, in the larger of which is a cross-section model of the Congressional Library building, the most striking feature of which is its illustration of the possibility of expansion as well as its admirable equipment for library purposes. The model is supplemented by a collection of pictures on the partition wall at the rear. Roland P. Falkner, of the Congressional Library, is in charge. Surrounding the model are cases containing typical exhibits from the several divisions of the library, including books of various kinds, interesting through their form, their age, or their relation to the nation's history. A small collection of maps illustrates the progress of knowledge with respect to America and particularly with reference to the Mississippi Valley and Louisiana. Displayed in a wing frame case is a collection of portraits of Jefferson, interesting as displaying the different interpretations of his features by various artists and engravers. Here also are specimen manuscripts bearing on the history of the United States, and among them are certain manuscripts which exemplify the ingenious processes employed in preserving this material in the Library of Congress. Another case is devoted to the Music Division, whose collections constitute a prominent and unique feature of the library, while in another part of the space are a table and shelves on which is displayed a series illustrating the processes of binding and the results obtained in the branch bindery of the Government Printing Office located in the library building. The wall space of this section of the exhibit is occupied by pictures of the national libraries of the world, affording a contrast with that of the United States.

Across the aisle in the smaller section of the space is a collection of material designed to illustrate the progress of libraries generally and the methods of library administration, a collection prepared in co-operation with the American Library Association. The statistical charts on the wall exhibit the progress of libraries in the United States, and the framed pictures depict some of the principal libraries in the various cities, while the frieze is composed of reproductions of the artistic decorations of the Boston Public Library. A collection of photographs from the large reference libraries of the great cities down to the modest libraries of the small villages is displayed in wing frame cases. Modern processes of cataloguing receive an illustration in the printed cards of the Library of Congress, the American Library Association, and the International Institute of Bibliography.

In the Missouri building is the Model Library, the exhibit of the American Library Association, which aims to present, within certain unavoidable limitations, a model public library in actual operation. The room, 75 x 35 feet, is furnished by the Library Bureau. It contains a collection of some seven or eight thousand volumes, which, with the periodicals shown, have been given by the publishers. These books represent the titles included in the "A. I. A. Catalog" of 8000 volumes, prepared by the American Library Association, as comprising, in proper proportion, the best books in every department of literature, as determined by a consensus of nearly 300 librarians and university specialists. The editorial work of this catalogue has been done by the New York State Library, with Mrs. Elmendorf, of Buffalo, as special bibliographer; the catalogue is made and printed by the Library of Congress, and the exhibit is under the direction of the St. Louis Public Library, although made under the auspices of the Missouri Commission.

THE PHILIPPINE EXHIBIT.

Over across Arrowhead Lake and through the walled city we reach a great exposition in itself, the Philippine—an exposition which perhaps more than any other one feature tends to make the Louisiana Purchase Exposition distinctive among all other World's Fairs. It is the anthropological and ethnological scope of this Fair that is its greatest strength, and through the walled city we enter upon a most fascinating study of a people showing every phase of development both with books and without. As yet the book collection is small, confined mostly to textbooks, atlases and Spanish works upon municipal matters. The firm of Antonio Estredillo and Manuel G. d'Arce have a case of such works, and the Universidad de Santo Tomas shows a case of textbooks and records, many written by members of the faculty. The Nautical School has a large case of textbooks in English and Spanish and numbers of nautical charts. All these are exhibited in the Philippine Educational Building, while in the Weather Bureau are scientific, meteorological and technical books, atlases, relief maps and others, the work, hand-drawn, of Filipino draughtsmen.

PAY OF THE ILLUSTRATORS.

ILLUSTRATORS for books and periodicals, according to the New York Sun, receive payment for their work at rates that vary from less than $1 to more than $1000 a picture.

The late Hamilton Gibson, who, without being recognized as a great illustrator, was almost alone as a master of botanical illustration, obtained about $250 for even small book illustrations. For some of his earlier work, to be found in a sort of guide book issued many years ago by the Pennsylvania Railroad, he probably received less than one-twentieth of that rate.

Only a few illustrators can command so much as $1000 for a full-page magazine illustration, but several have been receiving such rates for some years past, and they often demand the return of the original picture after the plate for the illustration has been made. Such men probably never accept less than three or four hundred dollars for any but their smallest illustrations.

These are men of world-wide reputation, though it is generally believed that two magazine readers out of three are unable to recognize the style of the ablest illustrators, whose pictures they see a dozen times a year.

Below the few illustrators of the first rank are many extremely able men who command rates that vary from a fourth to a half of the highest. The best paid men can probably be counted on the fingers of one hand.

The men who command from $100 to $500 for a full page illustration are numbered certainly by dozens, possibly by scores. Many of them, however, cannot always maintain prices. If caught when they are hard up they will undertake to execute work at little more than half the usual rate.

The men and women who draw for the fashion papers often get very fair prices for their work. Some able illustrators are employed by the fashion papers to make ideal heads that more or less effectively illustrate bonnets or coiffures. For such pictures the price may easily be as much as $50.

Book illustration, below that of the ablest illustrators, is not so well paid as magazine illustration, but is a certain and profitable kind of work for a large number of comparatively young illustrators. The demand for such work has enormously increased in the last twenty years, since the rage for popular fiction developed.

A few publishers have occasionally attempted to get rid of the illustrator's pay by having illustrations made from photographs taken directly from posed models. Figure work of this kind is usually nothing less than ghastly, and the illustrators take the highest delight in the failure of such attempts to crowd them out.

Some highly successful landscape illustrations, however, have been made directly from nature, and some of the publishers profess to hope that they may yet succeed with figure illustrations of the same kind.

THE JAPANESE AND COPYRIGHT.

"THE Japanese," says an exchange, "have shown their accustomed astuteness in dealing with the copyright question. For a long time American publishers, and especially publishers of school books, have complained that their works were pirated in Japan, and remonstrances were directed to the proper quarter. Some short time before the war the Japanese decided to enter the comity of nations by subscribing to the Berne Convention, which secures copyright for all nations within the scope of the treaty. As the Americans have never entered the Berne Convention, they were left out in the cold. Another remonstrance was accordingly addressed to the Japanese. They replied politely that when the United States entered the Berne Convention like themselves they would be happy to give them all the privileges enjoyed by the signatory countries. Very neat was this, and quite unanswerable."

WHO WROTE "THE BREAD-WINNERS"?

THE mysterious question of the authorship of "The Bread-Winners" has been revived, and various papers are printing columns of surmise, attaching the authorship to Charles Frederick Adams, of New York, and to various other persons, including Secretary John Hay. Denials from the accused make apparently no impression, and the mystery remains as inscrutable as ever. Harper & Brothers published this novel anonymously in 1884. It aroused keen interest immediately, edition after edition was published, and questions rained upon the publishers concerning the author's identity. But the ethics of the publishing business has sealed their lips for twenty years. Not long ago the Harpers proposed to the author to bring out the novel in a new edition, with the author's name on the title-page, as the commercial value of the name at this time would insure the book a phenomenal sale. But the author declined either the fame or fortune attached to the enterprise, and his publishers still remain mute. Thus far Secretary Hay has been most persistently named as the author.

WHAT THE NEW YORK GHETTO READS.

WHAT reading is the most popular in New York's Ghetto? The question was suggested to a New York Sun reporter by a number of pushcarts loaded with paper-covered books lined up along the curb in Canal Street near Forsyth. In most parts of the city the pushcart men principally sell cheap novels. Not so in the Ghetto. An examination of some of the book laden pushcarts revealed the dramas of Henrik Ibsen, books on criminology by Max Nordau, Darwin's "Origin of Species," Herbert Spencer's "First Principles," the poems of Tennyson and Shakespeare, the poems of Goethe, Schiller and Lessing in German, a few books in Yiddish, but almost no novels.

The vendors said that books of poetry and philosophy were most popular among Jewish young people. The older orthodox Jews do not read miscellaneous books, but spend their spare time studying the Talmud.

COMMUNICATIONS.

DOES THE BOOKSELLER LACK ENTERPRISE?

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: I was pleased to read your editorial "Does the Bookseller Lack Enterprise?" in your last issue, not that I altogether agree with it, but that it is calculated to provoke discussion which may lead to some practical results benefiting the publisher and bookseller.

That some booksellers lack enterprise goes without saying; so do some publishers. That the majority lack the essential quality I am inclined to think is a statement which cannot be substantiated by facts in the case.

An author may write a novel and think it a good one. Some publisher may be of like mind and put the said novel on the market. Some booksellers may be of the like opinion and buy liberally. Others, whose judgment may differ, will buy sparingly. As yet the book has not reached the reading public for whom it was written.

These people, who are necessarily in the vast majority, may not think at all as the few who are commercially interested.

To this public the retailer must submit the book for their decision. The question with the reader is: "Will or will not this book interest me, and even if it does have I the time to read it? Again, having the time for its perusal, have I the money or credit wherewith to purchase it?"

No matter how well a would-be reader may like the book, if he has no money he cannot buy it; if he has not the time he will not buy it.

On the other hand, when the customer is but another go-between and passes the book on, as a gift, the bookseller is relieved and a sale is easily made, as the enormously increased holiday trade invariably demonstrates.

In receiving the book as a gift there is no wish to criticise; nor can the recipient decline to accept, no matter what his own ideas may be in regard to the book. He may have no time to read, but that has no bearing on this case.

To make a personal canvass of every book, or a half portion thereof, by the bookseller, would not only be impractical, but would soon defeat the end sought to be achieved. The readers would resent so much solicitation and eventually decline any hearing whatsoever.

So much of this has already been done that many decline to give the "book agent" any chance to show his books, and the number who decline is increasing every year.

The country is surfeited with mediocre books. Especially is this true of the novel. There are too many amateur writers anxious to foist on the public their undigested thought.

There are too many indiscriminating publishers too willing to take up with poor matter rather than none, depending on the patent medicine style of advertising, calling it "enterprise," who are inclined to criticise the bookseller and the public for not buying their wares.

Some of the best authors, urged on by an "enterprising" publisher, are tempted to put forth half digested thought, forgetting that the success of some former work was owing to the careful study of an idea that may have been years in formulating. And even one more effort, not necessarily a second, may contain in it the thought of lifelong study.

Are the public to blame for not buying perhaps a second or a third book, when a former work of the same author has been forced on them which does not show careful work in construction and is replete with undigested thought?

Should a bookseller be to blame because he buys sparingly, not knowing whether the meat of this intellectual feast be "prime, underdone or overdone?"

Give us fewer books, well written, and the public will buy unsparingly, as has been shown time and again. The author, the publisher, the bookseller and the public will be the gainers. A bookseller cannot urge on his patrons a work which he knows is not worth reading or buying without losing prestige with his customer, who will soon find his judgment is biased by his profit to such a degree as to make him unreliable as a source of information in what to read.

JOHN STERLING.

WATERTOWN, July 5, 1904.

OBITUARY NOTES.

GEORGE FREDERICK WATTS, painter and sculptor, died July 1, in London, where he was born on February 23, 1817.

ROBERT B. ADAM, a well-known book collector, died at Buffalo, N. Y., June 30. Mr. Adam was known throughout the literary world as the owner of the most complete and finest collection of Johnsoniana in the world. He was also the owner of an exceedingly valuable Burnsiana, including the original manuscript of "Tam o' Shanter," and owned an almost complete collection of the first edition of Ruskin's works, including some original manuscripts which have never been published. In 1895 Mr. Adam attracted much attention in the literary world by his enlargement of Birkbeck Hill's edition of Boswell's "Life of Johnson." Mr. Adam's work included rare prints, photographs and reproductions from the original manuscripts in his private collection. He also published the letters of Mrs. Dunlop in two volumes. Mr. Adam owned all of these letters.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ANTHONY HOPE's new novel, "Double Harness," which is to be published in the fall by McClure, Phillips & Co., deals with marriage, and is described as very modern, with characters that are "smart, up-to-date people."

PROFESSOR ALBERT SMYTH has started for England with the idea of hunting up in England and France further unpublished correspondence for his new ten-volume edition of the works of Benjamin Franklin, to be issued by the Macmillan Company in 1906, the two-hundredth anniversary of Franklin's birth. Professor Smyth is sole editor of the forthcoming publication.

BUSINESS NOTES.

LYNN, MASS.—The New and Old Book Company, under the management of A. W. Dellquest, formerly of El Paso, Tex., have opened up for business here at 141 Broad Street. Their line will embrace antique and modern books, antiquities, Mexican pottery and stationery.

NEW YORK CITY.—John A. Holden, formerly manager for Thomas Whittaker, and Alonzo Lincoln have formed The Holden Art Company, to publish copyright art works. Their office and salesroom are at 24 East Twenty-first Street.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y.—The American Cyclopaedia Company has been incorporated. Object, publishing; capital, $750,000. Incorporators and directors for the first year: A. S. Ridley, W. P. Chapman and Royall Victor, all of New York City.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE special summer number of The International Studio, published by John Lane, has for its subject "The Royal Academy from Reynolds to Millais," edited by Charles Holme. It is an elaborate and comprehensive history of the Academy, with full details about the men who belonged to it in the first century of its career.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have postponed the publication of the Abbé Loisy's "The Gospel and the Church" until September.

THOMAS WHITTAKER has just brought out a continuation of the Rev. Dr. Alfred G. Mortimer's series of Church Lessons for the Christian Year, being Part IV., from the Twelfth Sunday after Trinity to Advent.

SWAN SONNENSCHN & Co. have in preparation "A Dictionary of Indian Biography," to include brief lives of all men and women who have distinguished themselves in that country since its government lapsed from the hands of the East India Company.

BRIMLEY JOHNSON, London, will publish at once a work by Edward T. Bennett, the historian of the Psychological Society, entitled "Twenty Years of Psychical Research, 1882-1901." A descriptive index of reference to main issues and a selected list of books are provided for the use of students desirous of pursuing any special branch of investigation.

HARPER & BROTHERS are issuing a new edition of their standard illustrated volume of songs for young people, entitled "Our Children's Songs." There will be a new frontispiece by Alice Barber Stephens, and a new binding in green cloth with a design drawn from the frontispiece. The volume includes songs for the nursery, for childhood, for girlhood, for boyhood, hymns for the nursery, and hymns for childhood.

THE forthcoming double section of the "Oxford English Dictionary," which has been prepared by W. A. Craigie, includes upwards of 3000 words recorded between "reactively" and "ree." This portion contains comparatively few words of native origin, but some of these are of considerable importance and interest. The adjective "red," the specific applications of which have involved much research, occupies 21½ columns. The number of illustrative quotations in this section is 16,156, or 14,551 more than in the next most liberally furnished dictionary.

THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY, to commemorate the centenary of the birth of Nathaniel Hawthorne, opened on the 2d inst. a remarkable free exhibition of his works in their original editions, manuscripts written by him, portraits, views of his haunts and homes, and books about him. As this exhibition contains an absolutely complete series of Hawthorne first editions, an opportunity is afforded which has never been given before in New York. The exhibition is at the Lenox Library Building, Fifth Avenue and Seventieth Street, and will be continued about six weeks.

JOHN A. HOLDEN, former manager for Thomas Whittaker, has formed a partnership with Alonzo Lincoln, for the publication of works of art, to be known as "The Holden Art Co.," with office and salesroom at 24 and 26 East 21st Street, New York. They have in preparation for early publication a list of twenty-one copyrighted subjects, among them reproductions of the best of Astley D. M. Cooper's famous canvases. The pictures on allegorical subjects are dainty and attractive, while those on Indian legends and life are very effective. The line will be ready for exhibition July 15.

SMITH, ELDER & Co. will issue early in the fall a collection of "Errata" in the "Dictionary of National Biography," which has been compiled by Sidney Lee mainly from corrections and suggestions forwarded to the publishers and editors during the publication of the work, or since its completion. Mrs. Murray Smith intends to present copies of the "Errata" to all subscribers to the "Dictionary" who make application. The "Errata" will be available in two forms—either in a bound volume, to range with the volumes of the "Dictionary," or in a portfolio of unbound sheets, which will permit the insertion separately in each volume of the corresponding list of errata.

"THE ROSE OF OLD ST. LOUIS," which the Century Co. will issue on the 15th of July, is a love story, yet one in which the historical element enters so largely that the book will have a decided value for lovers of history. It is said to be absolutely true in every important historical detail. Every word that is spoken by Marbois, Livingston, Talleyrand, Napoleon and his brothers, Joseph and Lucien, on the subject of the Louisiana cession is verbatim from the most authentic accounts. And the publishers say that the story is so full of excitement and adventure that he who begins it will have hard work to stop until the last page is reached. On that last page occurs one of the surprises of the book, and something that is believed to be a novelty in literature.

THE FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have ready this week "What is Art," by Tolstoy, translated from the original manuscript, with the author's approval and indorsement, by Aylmer Maude. This edition has peculiar interest because, as the author states in his preface, the work appears now for the first time in its true form. Several editions were published in Russia, but in every case the work was so mutilated by the censor as to be not only incomplete but also to misrepresent seriously the author's views and to make him responsible for the thoughts of other men—thoughts utterly opposed to his own convictions. In introducing the present edition, Tolstoy points out a number of instances wherein the Russian editions were thus mutilated and altered.

PAUL ELDER & Co., San Francisco, Cal., announce a book of toasts entitled "Prosit," compiled by "Clotho," the collective pen-name of a group of clever literary people of California, who have contributed many original toasts in addition to those collected from various sources. Some of the signatures to appear through the volume are the Hon. James G. Phelan, Wallace Irwin, George Sterling, Howard V. Sutherland, Ernest Sylvester Simpson, Ambrose Bierce, Ednah Robinson, John McNaught, Grace Luce Irwin, John Vance Cheney, Gellett Burgess and Will Irwin. They have also in preparation a selection of the poems of John Boyle O'Reilly, to be in their series of Impression Classics.

Other additions to appear in the early fall are: "The Holy Grail," by Tennyson; "Golden Wings," by William Morris; selections from Epictetus and Longfellow's "Evangeline."

METHUEN & Co. have in preparation a "Life of Browning," by Professor Hall Griffin, an ardent disciple of the poet. Professor Griffin has photographed every accessible spot, character and picture mentioned in Browning's works, including every yard of his walk from the stall where he bought his old yellow book of "The Ring and the Book" to his lodgings. He has also, for the first time, given the real date of the buying of the book, 1859, for which three later dates had been fixed by other biographers. Professor Griffin has also been fortunate enough to obtain from Charles Domett, Waring's son, not only Alfred Domett's own diaries, but also the letters of Arnould, a close friend of Domett and Browning, giving many interesting details about Browning's early life in London. They will publish shortly a novel of Finnish life entitled "A Song of the Forest," by Paul Waineman, a Finn.

THE Wagner'sche Universitäts Buchhandlung at Innsbruck, in the Tyrol, last month celebrated its 350th anniversary, having been founded in 1554 by Rupert Höller, printer to Emperor Ferdinand. The business, which was continued without interruption during these three and one-half centuries, was transferred by Höller to Gallus Dingenauer, who carried it on from 1573 to 1577, when it passed into the hands of Hans Paur, (Agricola,) by whom it was transmitted to his son and grandson, Daniel Paur and Jerome Paur. Michael Wagner, after whom the business takes its name, took possession in 1668, and he and four generations of his family were in control until 1801, when the last of the Wagners transferred the business to his brother-in-law, Casimir Schumacher, whose great-grandson, Eckhart von Schumacher, is the present proprietor. The business, in all, was in the hands of fourteen proprietors, viz.: the founder, Höller, his successor Dingenauer, the three Pairs, five Wagners and four Schumachers—the three families alone covering a period of 327 years, reaching back to 1577.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just published "English Life in Town and Country," by Mrs. Elizabeth Robins Pennell, which forms a new volume in their European Neighbors Series. They have in preparation a new illustrated series entitled French Classics for English Readers, to be edited by Adolphe Cohn, Professor of the Romance Languages and Literatures in Columbia University, and Dr. Curtis Hidden Page, Lecturer on the Romance Languages in Columbia University. The design of the series is to meet the need of the many who are interested in French literature, and desire to know it directly, but who cannot easily read its authors in the original; and to fill the lack of adequate and dignified representation of these authors in public and private libraries. Six volumes are in immediate preparation, as follows: One volume each of Rabelais, Montaigne, Beaumarchais and George Sand, and two volumes of Molière. Each work will be introduced by a biographical and critical essay by an authority, giving an adequate account of the author's life, writings and place in literary history. The introduction to Molière will be written by Brander Matthews, who has made a lifelong study of Molière's work. They have also in preparation "The Literary Landmarks of the Scottish Universities," by the late Laurence Hutton; "The Prince Chap," by Edward H. Peple, described as a "winsome love story," the scene being laid in a London art colony, and the hero being an American sculptor; also, "Our Lost Empire—Canada," by Professor Justin H. Smith, of Dartmouth, which will be a continuation and broadening out of the subject begun in the author's work "Arnold's March from Cambridge to Quebec."

In the spring The Reilly & Britton Co., of Chicago, offered a prize of $100 for a better title for their new book by L. Frank Baum than the one first decided on—"The Further Adventures of The Scarecrow and The Tin Woodman." Although a large number of suggestions were sent in, none of the titles submitted seemed adequate. Neither Mr. Baum nor the publishers felt satisfied with the first title, partly because of its length, and held many consultations over the matter. Finally, a gentleman connected with the retail booktrade in Chicago said to Mr. Britton that he thought it would be a mistake if the title of the new book did not contain the word "Oz." He argued that thousands of people all over the country have been introduced to that wonderful land, first by the book entitled "The Wizard of Oz," and then by the successful play of the same name. This suggestion was submitted to Mr. Baum at a luncheon. He immediately turned over the menu card and wrote—"The Marvelous Land of Oz." After considerable debate and the consideration of many other adjectives in place of "Marvelous" it was decided by Mr. Baum and Messrs. Reilly and Britton to call the new book "The Marvelous Land of Oz." The book has just been issued. In its preparation the publishers have spared neither time nor expense to make it attractive. The book is illustrated with nearly 150 black-and-white drawings, and 16 multicolor inserts. Each chapter has a special pictorial heading and a tail-piece. The pictures are by a young Philadelphian, John R. Neill. This is the first important book which Mr. Neill has illustrated, but he is very well known to newspaper readers in Philadelphia and New York, having been connected with The North American of Philadelphia and The Journal of New York for several years. Mr. Neill has succeeded in catching the spirit of Mr. Baum's grotesque creations and his pictures are genuinely funny. In his decorations he shows a charming imagination and dainty touch which is in marked contrast to his humorous pictures.

NOTES AND QUERIES.

CAN any one give information of "Confessions of a Railroad Man," published by the S. R. I. Community? D. P. C.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

TO-DAY

The Confessions of a Club Woman

By AGNES SURBRIDGE

A very real and exciting novel; how a girl from a little western town married a Chicago grocer and began life in a city tenement; how she first came into contact with club-life, the growth of her social ambitions with her husband's financial rise, and the deadlock caused by the conflict of her club interests with her married life. It is the strangest commingling of fact and fiction about club-life ever written. Illustrated by A. I. Keller.

A NEW NOVEL

By the Author of "Dodo"

The Challoners

By E. F. BENSON

12mo, cloth, $1.50

An exceedingly interesting love-story of to-day which carries with it three studies in character—a brother and sister who are alike in their sympathies and tastes, and a father who refuses to abandon his religious prejudices even when confronted with the loss of his children. The figure of Martin, the gifted son, and Helen, the daughter, represent the best work which Mr. Benson has yet done. The personality of Lady Sunningdale is sparkling with that delightful impudence and knowledge of the world which the author of "Dodo" interprets so cleverly. The book is distinctly a story for a hot day and it will hold attention on every page.

Still Growing in Favor

Olive Latham

By Mrs. E. L. VOYNICH

Author of "Jack Raymond," "The Gadfly."

"It is extremely improbable that Mrs. E. L. Voynich's latest novel will ever be permitted to cross the boundary line into the domain of the great white Czar. No more scathing denunciation of Muscovite official cruelty and Muscovite private misery and distress has appeared for a considerable time. 'Olive Latham' will be found continuously interesting and exceedingly well written."—Philadelphia Record.

The Issue

By GEORGE MORGAN

"'The Issue' is one of the best novels of its period."—Baltimore Sun.

"The most striking literary event of the year."—Philadelphia North American.

"His great achievement is that he comprehends and portrays with genius and power the red talon forces which made for war between the States, and, having brought on the issue, he omits no detail essential to define and color the grotesque and pathetic tragedy of the times."—New York Evening Post.

A New Novel by the Author of "Bootle's Baby"

The Little Vanities of Mrs. Whittaker

By JOHN STRANGE WINTER

IT is a decidedly amusing and lifelike bit of domestic comedy, telling, in the author's lightest and brightest style, the love story of Regina Whittaker—an original heroine with a bias toward independent thought and action in every sphere of life. Regina's experiences as wife and mother, as a vigorous member of societies and clubs, and as a client of beauty doctors, fat reducers, skin manipulators, hair dressers, milliners, dress-makers, etc., are described with rich and sympathetic humor. The incidents leading her to doubt her husband's faithfulness and the complications which resulted are narrated with fine comedy and frequent touches of pathos. The whole story gives a picture of a certain phase of modern social life in such a new and clever way that "The Little Vanities of Mrs. Whittaker" is sure to win a large share of popularity.

COMBINED INDEX

Publishers' Trade List Annual

THERE remain only 185 copies of the original Index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, a comprehensive alphabet covering 1100 pages, with which we shall bind up the Supplementary Index, in an additional alphabet, to the new publications in the Trade List Annuals of 1903 and 1904. This will make a volume from 1350 to 1400 pages—which should be on the shelves of every book-store and every library which does not possess a copy of the original Index of 1902. This "Combined Index, 1902-1904," as it is known, will be furnished, to the extent of 185 copies—"first come, first served"—at a rate of $6.00, cloth-bound, previous to publication, which price will probably be increased on the publication of the Supplementary Index, which is furnished separately at the price of $2.50. To those who are unacquainted with this invaluable work of reference, sample pages will be sent on request, or provisional orders will be entered for sending a copy of the work on approval, carriage paid, in case the edition is not exhausted at the time of publication.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902 and the index thereto.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1824.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and book-selling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, except special numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, $02 a year; single numbers, 25. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEVOLDT, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consumer is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

—, 1890-95, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

—, 1895-1900, 4°, hf. mor., $15.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE. Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1903, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $4.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 300 American publishers. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with Supplementary Index, 1903, 2 v., 8°, net, $4.50.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net $5.00. Supplementary Index for 1903. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $2.50. The two volumes bound in one, $6.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the cooperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°. cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, cloth, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1900-1903, bound in one volume, cloth, $5.00.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. Pt. 2: North Central States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. 4°. (For complete work, $5.00.)

THE PROFESSION OF BOOKSELLING: a handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWELL, managing editor of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, and author of "A Bookseller's Library," "Book-trade Bibliography in the United States in the XIXth Century," etc. Pts. 1 and 2. 8°, bds., each, $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

"A book of extraordinary interest as a study from the inside of the 'inwardness' of a genius — Times Saturday Review

The Diary of a Musician

Edited by DOLORES M. BACOT
With decorations and illustration
by CHARLES EDWARD HOOPE and H. LATIMER BROWN.
12mo. $1.50 net. (By mail $1.62)

A picture of the soul of a genius, naively unconscious of the limitations imposed upon life by some of us who are not geniuses—and probably by some who are. A vivid picture is given of the grinding poverty of his youth on the Hungarian farm, his struggle for education, and his strange success. His last entries are touching, and somewhat in the nature of a surprise. The book runs over with marked humor.

"Uncommon power distinguishes it . . . a curiously interesting book . . . may give one a better understanding of the way of the erratic course of genius."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"A work of unusual character . . . entirely original in its scope."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"An unusual book . . . as a study and as an interpretation."—Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

America, Asia and the Pacific

With special reference to the Russo-Japanese War and its results. By 'DR. WOLF VON SCHIERBRAND, author of "Russia; Her Strength and Weakness," "Germany of To-day," etc. With 13 maps. 334 pp. 12mo. $1.50 net. (By mail $1.62).

This book treats the present conflict and its probable results as only preliminary to large considerations. It considers America's relations to all the countries affected by the Panama Canal, to those on both coasts of the Pacific, and to the islands. It devotes special attention to an analysis of the strength and weakness of our rivals in the fast approaching struggle, commercial and possibly political, for supremacy in the Pacific.

"His entire discussion is suggestive and stimulating . . . his data and reasoning are worth profound consideration."—Washington Star.

THE TRANSGRESSION OF ANDREW VANE

By GUY WETMORE CARRYL. 3d printing, 1.50.

"A novel in the better sense of the word . . . decidedly worth while."—Life.

"A strong and original story, . . . full of action and dramatic surprise."—Times Saturday Review.

ALADDIN & CO. By HERBERT QUICK. $1.50

"We have liked the business part; it has entertained us to read of the quick and mighty development of the city of Lattimore; we have followed with interest and wonder the Napoleonic doings of Jimmie Elkins, the boomer. . . . Josie Trescott, the heroine, is adorable. An unusual and admirable story. If the reader is wise he will hasten him and get it."—N. Y. Sun.

DOROTHEA

A New Novel. By MAARTEN MAARTENS

Author of "God's Fool," "Joost Avelingh," etc. Cloth, $1.50

"Put before us with such truth and such fine feeling that it awakens ideas, touches the imagination, and altogether gives us something to add to our conception of life."
—New York Tribune.

"Mr. Maartens deals with real people moving in real places, swayed by their true characters. He is no pessimist and no optimist. He sees life whole, and he sees it clearly."—St. James Gazette, London.

"One can scarcely praise too warmly its variety, its insight, the breadth of its canvas, the glow of its colors. The movement is swift and sure, the wit keen, the worldly wisdom ripe and rich. In a word, it is the work of a master, done to its smallest detail in masterly fashion."—New York Times.

"It is full of humor and charm, touched with a strong dramatic instinct and replete with life. 'Dorothea' is a book to be read; those who neglect to do so will miss much enjoyment. Life seen through the glasses of Mr. Maartens is an absorbingly interesting and delightful thing."—The Academy and Literature, London.

"The author is recognized by all readers of fiction as one of the most artistic and finished novelists of the day, and he has done nothing that shows certain fine characteristics of his work better than this story of passion and pure love."—Baltimore American.

"His story, as a whole, is so dramatically moving that whether or not the moral he wished to point be lost or preserved, he need not mind, for it teaches its lesson just as life does, and it is as easy to believe as one's own experience."—New York Morning Telegraph.

"The book is not one to be read hastily or superficially. There are a great number of characters, and they are all living, breathing, thinking men and women, stimulating in their contrast to the sawdust puppets of so much of our contemporary fiction. Mr. Maartens writes from the viewpoint at once of humorist, philosopher and man of the world. He does not pelt us with laboriously prepared epigrams, but a quietly wholesome humor sparkles in all his dialogue. His, in short, is a story to enjoy in leisurely fashion and be grateful for."—New York Sun.

New Novels to Suit All Tastes

THE BEST AMERICAN HISTORICAL NOVEL

Winston Churchill's

The Crossing

"Mr. Churchill has contrived to make his book thoroughly interesting."—New York Tribune.

"Extremely interesting, . . . bravely romantic and vivid."—Indianapolis News.

"Of Mr. Churchill's novels, the one that Western people will select as his best . . . it is full of life, of color, of vitality."—Salt Lake Tribune.

Illustrated in colors. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

THE GREATEST ROMANCE IS

Maurice Hewlett's

The Queen's Quair

"Vivid, picturesque, rapid, gorgeous in color, and bristling with action."—The New York Sun.

"A breathing, moving record, made to throb with the red blood of life."—The New York Herald.

Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

THE MOST ENTERTAINING LOVE-STORY IS

Mrs. Kingsley's

The Singular Miss Smith

"As a domestic, Miss Smith is refreshing; as a commentor, vastly amusing; but as a woman she is irresistible."—Baltimore Herald.

"The story is one of the best of the year, . . . irresistibly entertaining."—Courier-Journal.

Illustrated. Cloth, $1.25

MOST FRUITFUL OF DISCUSSION IS

Barbara's New Novel

The Woman Errant

"A mine of quaint fancies and unexpected turns of wit."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"It deals with the woman errant, the woman who goes forth to seek her work outside the natural home relations of the woman domestic."

Illustrated. Cloth, $1.50

MOST DELIGHTFUL IN OUTDOOR ATMOSPHERE

Elizabeth's

Adventures in Rügen

"Even more original, more fascinating, than 'Elizabeth and Her German Garden.'"—New York Times.

Cloth, $1.50

MOST REPRESENTATIVE OF JAPANESE LIFE

Onoto Watanna's

Daughters of Niho

"Is a love-story pure and simple, and through it all drifts all the enchanting, dreamed-of, longed-for beauty and poetry of Japan."—Mrs. ELLA HIGGINSON.

Illustrated by KIYOKICHI SANO. Cloth, $1.50

MOST BREEZY AND STIRRING

Mr. Samuel Merwin's New Novel

The Merry Anne

"Irresistibly clever, an ideal book for vacation reading."—Chicago Evening Post.

Illustrated in color and tint by THOMAS FOGARTY. Cloth, $1.50

NOTES IN SEASON.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS expect to publish next month, or early in September, Henry Seton Merriman's last novel, "The Last Hope." The scene of the story is laid in France and in England during the Presidency of the Bonaparte who later became Napoleon III. It deals intimately with the attempt to secure the imperial throne before the famous coup d'état. As already announced, this novel will have no serial publication.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will bring out at once "Rosabel," a love story, by Esther Miller, the author of the successful novel "A Prophet of the Real." They have nearly ready a volume of especial interest to those engaged in the manufacture of iron, entitled "Lectures on Iron Founding," by Thomas Turner, M.Sc., with fifty illustrations and a folding plate; also, Part IV. of the "Text-book of Physics," by J. H. Poynting and J. J. Thomson.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish at once a work entitled "The Pan-Germanic Doctrine," written by an Englishman in close touch with German politics, who prefers, however, to remain anonymous for the present. The book is something in the nature of a revelation of the aims and aspirations of Germany to be a colonizing world power, as represented by a certain intellectual and agitating class. "The Pan-Germanic Doctrine" reveals the extent to which this sentiment has grown in Germany, and exposes its serious meaning for the civilized world at large. While the German Emperor has not openly avowed a Pan-Germanic ambition—that is, a union of all the Teutonic peoples—some of his acts seem, on reading this volume, to be preparatory steps in that direction.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish next month "The Seeker," by Harry Leon Wilson, author of "The Spenders," etc. The story deals with the life of a man, raised in a puritanical atmosphere, who rebels against conventional theology, and the delineation of the conflict between faith and reason makes the novel one of intense human interest. The book will be illustrated by Rose Cecil O'Neill, who is Mrs. Harry Leon Wilson. They will also publish next month, probably on August 1, "The Interloper," by Mrs. Violet Jacob, a novelist new to American readers. Mrs. Jacob is the wife of Major Arthur Jacob, who had a brilliant military career in India and who now has an important post in India. Her work has been highly praised by the most eminent English critics, who proclaim her as a writer of real power. The scenes of "The Interloper" are all laid in a small Scotch coast village. Her first novel was "The Sheep Stealers" and was laid in Wales.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have just published in the English Men of Letters series a biography of Maria Edgeworth, by Hon. Emily Lawless, who has included many letters by her famous subject not heretofore printed, as well as extracts from the privately-printed family memoir. They have also just ready in the Eversley Series "The Letters of Charles Lamb," newly arranged, with additions. They represent the last work of the late Canon Ainger, who wrote the biography of Lamb, and who made the previous editions of Lamb's letters. The volumes contain all the letters in the édition de luxe of 1900, plus about twenty, addressed to John Rickman, of the House of Commons, and now printed for the first time. They will bring out in September a book entitled "Recent Discoveries in the Roman Forum," by St. Clair Baddeley, who has been an eyewitness of all the work carried out in the Forum since 1898. The author was an intimate friend and collaborator of the late Augustus J. C. Hare. The volume is the official account of the excavations, and will be very fully illustrated.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fictio (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Gives names of and information concerning obsolete securities that have come to hand from old estates during the past fifteen years from the author's own records and those of correspondents in principal cities of the United States, with the result of investigation as to their value or worthlessness. Over 28,000 such securities and corporations are mentioned, including Railroad, Telegraph, Insurance, Water-works and Industrial companies; Bank, State, Municipal and Government securities, etc. The names of over 10,000 corporations are given that have lost their charters by non-payment of taxes or for other reason, with the date of forfeiture. The manual is designed to answer a class of questions, which come to all bankers, brokers, or assignees, and for the use of examiners and appraisers, and all who handle securities or loan money on them.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYFOLDT.

JULY 16, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament therunto."—LORD BACON.

THE GERMAN BOOKTRADE ON THE AMERICAN COPYRIGHT TREATY.

At the annual meeting of the German Publishers' Association, recently held in Leipzig, a very strong group of the delegates present was in favor of renewing the memorial, previously presented to the Reichstag, for the repeal of the present copyright convention, or treaty, with the United States. In the discussion of the subject, the Authors' Association of Germany was quoted as being also in favor of renewing this application. It need hardly be pointed out that such a step on the part of Germany would not only constitute a decided misfortune to the cause of copyright throughout the world, but would also constitute a very serious additional difficulty in the way of securing favorable attention from Congress in the fall for the pending amendment.

As the matter now stands the art and music trades of Germany enjoy fairly adequate protection against piracy in the United States, and, under certain conditions, however unsatisfactory, the author also is protected. That the German author under the present treaty, owing to the manufacturing clause restriction, cannot obtain protection excepting at considerable expense, is to be regretted; but as the situation can be made clearer to the various elements now opposed to any modification of the restrictive clause, there is hope that in time their opposition may be overcome, and the foreign authors may receive protection at least equal to that granted in their countries to American authors. In the meantime, the "half loaf" of protection enjoyed by the foreign author is certainly better than no protection at all, especially in view of the fact that without such protection the foreign author has more to lose than his American confrère. That the more conservative element of the German booktrade is inclined to this view is evident from the fact that at the suggestion of Messrs. Brockhaus, Ruprecht, Engelhorn and others further action in the matter was delayed until the fall or next summer, by which time, it is to be hoped, matters in this direction may assume a more favorable aspect in this country.

WORK OF THE COPYRIGHT OFFICE, 1903-1904.

THE copyright business for the fiscal year July 1, 1903, to June 30, 1904, according to the report of the Register of Copyrights, Thorvald Solberg, issued July 2, 1904, is the largest in any one year in the history of the Copyright Office, the entries having exceeded the 100,000 mark, (103,130,) and the net amount of the fees reaching $72,629. The number of articles deposited during the year also exceeds the number in any previous year, amounting to 184,799 articles.

The total amount received for fees during the seven years July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1904, was $449,277, and the expenditure for service during the same period was $352,925.76, showing excess of fees over expenditure for service for the seven full years to be $96,351.74. From the total amount appropriated from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1904, must be deducted the sum of $18,720 included in the appropriations for 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1904, to be used in bringing up the arrears of work prior to July 1, 1897, so that the excess of fees earned over appropriations used for service is actually $115,071.74 for the seven years.

No exact statement can be made of the other expenditures on behalf of the Copyright Office. They include the cost of stationery and other supplies, ($902.75,) record books, circulars and blank forms supplied by the Government Printing Office, and the printing of the "Catalogue of Title Entries" of copyright articles, amounting to 4971 octavo pages in the fiscal year 1903-1904.

ACTUAL STATE OF THE WORK.

The current work of the Copyright Office is now kept as nearly up to date as is possible in an office where the daily business is so fluctuating. At this date, 1 P.M., July 2, all applications received during the fiscal year have been acted upon, and all registrations made except 481 non-certificate entries, and all certificates made and mailed except 53 in Class A, written but not yet revised and recorded. The entries have been indexed and catalogued except those in Classes A and C for June 30, the index cards made during the year numbering 169,389.

The deposited articles have been catalogued, stamped and credited, Classes A, E, F, G and H to and including June 28, Classes C and D to June 29, and Class I to June 30, inclusive, while Class B, periodicals, is complete to noon of July 2.

A. APPLICATIONS ACTED UPON AND TITLES FILED AND NUMBERED.

Class A. Books, to No. 90,861, June 30, 1904.
B. Periodicals, to No. 76,795, June 30, 1904.
C. Musical compositions, to No. 73,626, June 30, 1904.
D. Dramatic compositions, to No. 5,246, June 30, 1904.
E. Maps and charts, to No. 6,017, June 30, 1904.
F. Engravings, cuts, and prints, to No. 21,838, June 30, 1904.

H. Photographs, to No. 47,635, June 30, 1904.
I. Original works of art, to No. 11,058, June 30, 1904.

B. RECORDING OF TITLES, ASSIGNMENTS, ETC.

All of the above titles are recorded to June 29, 1904, inclusive, except the non-certificate entries of classes A and B, which are recorded to June 27, 1904, inclusive.

Certificates for all entries to June 27, 1904, have been written and mailed.

Assignments: 1093 received, July 1, 1903, to June 30, 1904, and all recorded.

C. INDEX AND CATALOGUE.

The titles for classes A and C are indexed to June 29, 1904, and classes B, D, E, F, G, H, and I are indexed to June 30, 1904. The entries are indexed on cards by names of proprietors and titles. The total catalogue cards for the fiscal year 1903-1904 number 169,389, and these are added to the general alphabetical index, now containing more than 1,075,000 cards.

"CATALOGUE OF TITLE ENTRIES."

Four quarterly volumes of 13 numbers each were published, containing 4971 pages of octavo print.

The volumes of the Catalogue of Title Entries now printed are as follows: July 1, 1891, to December 31, 1897, 13 semi-annual volumes; January, 1898, to June, 1904, 26 quarterly volumes, or 39 volumes in all, of which the last sixteen are provided with quarterly indexes.

D. ARTICLES DEPOSITED.

Catalogued, Stamped, and Credited to July 1, 1904, as follows:

Class

A. Books: (a) Books and pamphlets, to June 28, 1904.
(b) Booklets, leaflets, etc., to June 29, 1904.
(c) Periodical contributions, to June 29, 1904.

I. Photographs of works of art, to June 30, 1904.

COPYRIGHT OFFICE MAIL MATTER.

The total number of registrations by mail made in the Copyright Office from July 10, 1870, (the date of the first registration,) to June 30, 1904, thirty-four years, is 1,518,605, while the total applied fees for these entries amount to $1,101,290.31. Of this amount $652,012.81 was reported for copyright fees for the twenty-seven years from July 10, 1870, to June 30, 1897, and $449,277.50 for the applied fees for the last seven fiscal years from July 1, 1897, to June 30, 1904.

All copyright fees are deposited in the Treasury of the United States and are not applied directly to the maintenance of the Copyright Office. In addition to the cash fees, however, the copyright business brings each year to the Library of Congress property to the value of many thousands of dollars in the books, maps, engravings, musical compositions and other articles deposited in accordance with the requirements of the copyright law. Of these articles one copy is sent for the use of the public to the Reading Room, the Division of Maps, the Prints Division, or the Music Division, while the other is filed in the Copyright Office. This latter collection now contains 1,289,028 publications received under the operation of the copyright laws from July 10, 1870, to June 30, 1904, including 155,629 books, 265,159 pamphlets and leaflets, 9894 dramas, 306,048 musical compositions, 27,727 maps and charts, 728 atlases, 46,495 chromos and lithographs, 154,706 photographs and stereograms and 87,972 engravings.

HOW MOMMSEN CAME TO WRITE HIS HISTORY OF ROME.

A LETTER written by Professor Mommsen in 1877 to Gustav Freytag, that has just been printed in the National-Zeitung, discloses the fact that Salomon Hirzel and his brother-in-law, Karl Reimer, the proprietors of the Weidmannsche Buchhandlung in Leipzig, suggested to Mommsen the idea of writing a history of Rome. When Mommsen was first called to the Leipzig University, in 1848, he was requested to deliver a lecture to a certain circle of distinguished Leipzigers—the subject of the lecture being left to the choice of the young professor. Mommsen at the time was busy with researches into Roman law and jurisprudence, particularly into the laws governing agriculture and husbandry. Realizing that these matters would have little interest for the general public, and, what was of paramount importance, would make small impression upon one of the young ladies to be present whom he hoped to win for his wife, he finally prepared a historical lecture on the Gracchi. Two days after the lecture was delivered the publishers called on Mommsen and requested him to write a history of Rome for one of their collections. Though the young professor was surprised by the proposal, he concluded that if such experienced publishers as Hirzel and Reimer had faith in his ability to perform such a work his belief in his own powers should at least be as great as theirs; and so he undertook the work which it took nearly thirty-seven years to complete, the first volume making its appearance in 1854, the fifth and concluding volume coming as theirs; and so he undertook the work which had already reached the eighth edition.

Hirzel and Reimer also planned the important German Dictionary edited by the Grimm brothers, and Dahlmann's histories of the English and French revolutions.

E. P. DUTTON & CO.'S NEW STORE.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. give evidence of their faith in continued prosperity in the book and stationery business by adding considerably over half as much space to their store as they already have. The space already occupied by them covers 50 x 200 feet, running from Twenty-third to West Twenty-fourth Street, west of Fifth Avenue. To this they have now added a space of 67 x 100 feet on Twenty-fourth Street, connecting with their present store in the shape of an L. The new space permits of a comprehensive rearrangement of their stock and offices. The offices of the firm will now be ranged together in the newly-acquired space, with windows facing on Twenty-fourth Street. The counting room will be more comfortably and conveniently located on the south side of the new space, receiving ample light and air from a large area that ventilates and lights the centre of the building. The remaining space of new addition will very likely be used to display the firm's novelties, booklets, etc., of which they always carry a large and varied assortment.

Their famous reading room has been moved back so that it now occupies a space in the very middle of the store convenient to almost every department. The space formerly occupied by the reading room will be utilized for the display of fine leather goods and stationery novelties. The space gained by the removal of the offices and counting room will be filled with book cases. The book stock itself will be rearranged for the greater convenience of the public.

The improvements are well advanced, and in a few weeks more the principal changes will have actually been made. By the time the fall season begins the Duttons will be able to welcome their patrons to what is probably the largest bookstore in the United States. In arrangement and artistic display their store has always been one of the most attractive. The new space will no doubt double their possibilities in this direction.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

THE EDWARD THOMPSON COMPANY'S COMPLAINT DISMISSED.

AFTER litigation lasting considerably over a year the action for infringement of copyright brought by the Edward Thompson Company, publishers of the "American Encyclopedia of English and American Law," against the American Law Book Company, publishers of the "Cyclopedia of Law and Procedure," was ended on July 9 by an opinion handed down by Judge Platt of the United States Circuit Court, New York City, wherein the bill of complaint brought against the American Law Book Company was dismissed. At the time the litigation was begun, Judge Lacombe granted a temporary injunction against the defendants, which was promptly appealed to the higher tribunal, where it was dissolved. The final hearing on the proofs before Judge Platt was had some time ago.

The defendants denied the charge of piracy, contending that the decisions quoted in the work it published were public property, and no one, even if it had a copyright on an abstract of the opinion, could prevent another similar abstract from being made. The defence also asserted that it had paid the publishers of the full opinions for a right to make the excerpts printed in its work. An appeal will no doubt be taken to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

OBITUARY NOTES.

T. F. HALLOWAY, newsdealer and bookseller of Philadelphia, died recently in that city.

MRS. ABBY BLAKE BLODGETT, whose extensive contracts for expensive books led to suits against several New York book agents last spring, after she had been declared to be mentally incompetent, died on February 3, at Fishkill-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., aged eighty-six. The suit against the book agents was brought by her son, William Tilden Blodgett, to rescind contracts to the amount of $250,000 for books entered into by Mrs. Blodgett. Mr. Blodgett asked in his suit that the dealers be forced to refund all the money which had been paid on account, with interest from date of payments, and that all outstanding notes be rescinded, in return for which the Blodgett estate would give up all equity in the books. Mrs. Blodgett's fortune, it is reported, amounted to $347,000, of which $215,000 was personal. Her husband, William T. Blodgett, at the time of his death, twenty-five years ago, was a well known New York merchant.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

GEORGE MOORE has finished work on his new novel to be entitled "General Life."

THE WESTERN WRITERS' ASSOCIATION held their nineteenth annual meeting at the Winona Hotel, Winona Lake, Ind. There were present Ben S. Parker, Professor W. H. Venable, Charles Eugene Banks, Hubert M. Skinner, James Whitcomb Riley, Madison Cawein, John Uri Lloyd, Opie Read and a number of others.

WILL IRWIN, who collaborated with Gelett Burgess in "The Reign of Queen Isyl" and "The Picaroons," has left his native California and come East to join the forces of the New York Sun. He was formerly Sunday editor of the San Francisco Chronicle. His decision to come East was brought about by a letter from the dead novelist, Frank Norris, which had been for many months delayed in the mails. The letter advised Mr. Irwin to get to New York.

THE fact has just been disclosed that "Agnes Surbridge," the author of "The Confessions of a Club Woman," which is arousing such wide comment, is a well-known eastern club woman who has published several successful books over her own name. She preferred to publish "The Confessions of a Club Woman" over a pseudonym for the reason that it is such a frank statement of the case. Miss "Surbridge" has taken an active part in club work and has attended every biennial of the General Federation in ten years. The vivid picture of a biennial session is drawn from real life. There is much conjecture over the authorship, and it promises to enlist interest as the discussion of the novel becomes keener.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Hibbert Journal for July has an interesting study of Herder, by T. Bailey Saunders; a paper on "Hegel's Theory of Tragedy," by Dr. A. C. Bradley, and one on "Art and Ideas," by Dr. C. Montague Bakewell, that will repay careful reading.

The Book Lover, formerly published by the Consolidated Retail Booksellers, has been taken over by The Library Publishing Company of Philadelphia, the publishers of The Booklovers' Magazine, and will hereafter be discontinued as a separate publication. Unexpired subscriptions to The Book Lover will be filled with The Booklovers' Magazine, beginning with the July issue.

THE "Fiction Number" of Scribner's will contain a short story by Rudyard Kipling entitled "They," an imaginative tale in the manner of "The Brushwood Boy." The same issue will have stories by Thomas Nelson Page, Edith Wharton, Josephine Daskam Bacon, Robert Grant, Guy Wetmore Carryl, Robert W. Chambers, Nelson Lloyd, and poems by Henry van Dyke, E. S. Martin and John Finley.

THE London Athenæum, with its issue of June 25, rounded out its seventy-sixth year, having been founded in June, 1828, by Charles Wentworth Dilke. Throughout its entire career the Athenæum has stood foremost as the representative of solid English scholarship and fearless criticism. To the slur so often cast upon it by the unthinking of being dull, antiquated and behind the times, we can think of no stronger contradiction than the claim made by the present editor, namely, that The Athenæum "has been associated many times with the cause of the pioneer, with freedom and reform." To take only two instances: F. D. Maurice, one of its earliest editors, not only discovered the genius of Tennyson, but was the pioneer of the movement to give proper education to women; and John Francis, for fifty years the publisher of The Athenæum, took a leading part in the repeal of the exorbitant taxes on literature and the press. We add our congratulations and best wishes for its future welfare to the many that are now being showered upon our esteemed contemporary.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE PRUSSIAN ACADEMY has resolved to index and describe fully all German mss. of literary or linguistic interest up to the sixteenth century and Latin Mediæval mss. of German origin. The work, as far as Great Britain is concerned, has been entrusted to Dr. Priebsch, professor in the University of London.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in preparation a "Primer of Library Practice for Junior Assistants," by George E. Roebuck and William Benson Thorne, of the English Library Assistants' Association. The book will have chapters on "How the Public Libraries Became Established," "Organization," "Classification and Cataloguing," "Methodology," "Library Extension Work," and "The Library Assistant Himself."

G. E. STECHERT, 9 East Sixteenth Street, New York, has brought out with his imprint a "Bibliography of the Writings of Charles Dickens," edited by J. C. Thomson, and published by J. Thomson, of Warwick, Eng. The bibliography, while it makes no claim to originality, is as complete so far as available data is concerned. The annotations make very interesting reading, and assist materially in collating notable editions as well as affording a clue to the prices realized for most of them at auction sales. In all 115 numbers are described. (180 p. 16°, bds., net, $2.)

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE life and times of Savonarola, in brief and popular form, and a tale entitled "The Home of Fiesole," included in one volume, will be published shortly by Thomas Whitaker.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish in the fall, following serial publication in The Century, Dr. S. Weir Mitchell's "The Youth of Washington," in two editions, one limited to five hundred copies.

A. M. ROBERTSON, of San Francisco, Cal., has made arrangements with the Dodge Publishing Company, 23 East Twentieth Street, New York, to carry in stock a complete line of his publications.

ARMAND COLIN & Co., Paris, have just brought out Pierre Leroy Beaulieu's "Les Etats Unis au Vingtième Siècle," which deals with the material development of America since De Tocqueville's "Democracy."

GINN & Co. have just brought out a new edition of Myers's excellent "Ancient History." Much of the text has been rewritten in order to profit by the suggestions embodied in the report of the "Committee of Seven" of the American Historical Association.

THE LIFE PUBLISHING COMPANY have in preparation a volume entitled "A Woman's Confessional," by Mme. Woljeska-Tindolph, an Austrian, who purports to portray the life history of a remarkable woman in the form of epigrams taken from her journal, marking the different stages of her mental and moral development.

ROBERT GRIER COOKE, New York, has just published a volume entitled "The Roosevelt Doctrine," giving the personal utterances of the President on various matters of vital interest, authoritatively arranged for reference in their logical sequence. There are nearly twenty-five important topics treated in this way. The book was compiled by E. E. Garrison, who served in the Rough Riders under Colonel Roosevelt.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY have been obliged to postpone the publication of Morley Roberts's novel, "Rachel Marr," until July 20, because the advance orders have necessitated the printing of a second edition. They have in preparation and will issue at once a new edition of "The Book of the Myths," the first volume of the famous Pipes of Pan Series, by Bliss Carman, which will contain a number of additional poems.

THE FUNK & WAGNALLS COMPANY have just published an inexpensive set of the "Works" of Edgar Allan Poe, which they call the Cameo edition. It is in ten sixteenmo volumes, with an introduction by Edwin Markham and frontispiece portraits and illustrations. The first volume contains the introduction and poems; the next seven volumes contain the tales, and the last two the essays, criticism and miscellany and a full index.

SUITS have been filed by the Bobbs-Merrill Company against undercutters of the dollar price of "The Castaway" in Philadelphia, New York and Detroit. The firm again announces that they are determined to test the principle involved at law so thoroughly that no doubt can remain in regard to it. They are in almost daily receipt of letters from booksellers in all parts of the country assuring them of their hearty co-operation in carrying out their fixed-price plan.

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY have just ready the two volumes of "Elizabethan Sonnets," edited by Sidney Lee, completing their issue of Arber's English Garner. Mr. Lee's introduction continues the investigation, the first results of which have appeared in his "Life of Shakespeare." No detailed examination of the foreign influences at work on Elizabethan literature has so far been undertaken, so that this pioneer work in an exceedingly interesting field will be of wide interest.

BRENTANO'S have in press a new edition of the "Letters from a Portuguese Nun," to an officer in the French army, reprinted, in exact facsimile, by the Merrymount Press from the 1817 edition, with a frontispiece. The book will contain the first seven letters hitherto omitted in all American editions. They also announce a work on the game of bridge, entitled "Bridge Developments," by Edmund Robertson and A. Hyde-Wollaston, acknowledged authorities on the game in England.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready a work on "Starters and Regulators," for electric motors and generators, by Rudolf Krause, electrical engineer, translated into English by two well-known lecturers at the Municipal School of Technology, Manchester, England, C. Kinzbrunner and N. West. The value of the book is increased by ninety-eight illustrations and diagrams and a full index. It is an advanced work, a general knowledge of the working of generators and motors on the part of the reader having been assumed.

CHARLES B. HALL, 955 East 168th Street, (Telephone 1192L Melrose,) New York, has just perfected a process of engraving upon which he has been experimenting for years, which for convenience he calls "etchotone." This process enables him to turn out a plate having the value of a steel etching, but which can be printed with letter-press just as a half-tone plate is printed. The fact that will specially recommend it to publishers and printers is that while the plates show effects marvelously like steel engraving or etching, their cost of production is no higher than that of re-touched half-tone plates.

HERBERT SPENCER'S trustees, according to the London Athenæum, have already made good progress in arranging for the continuation of the "Descriptive Sociology," for which Mr. Spencer fully provided in his will. Professor Mahaffy and Professor W. A. Goligher, of Trinity College, Dublin, have undertaken to prepare volumes on the Hellenic and Hellenistic Greeks; Professor A. Wiedemann, of Bonn, the well-known Egyptologist, will deal with the ancient Egyptians; and the trustees hope to be able to begin in the fall the printing of a Chinese volume, on which E. T. C. Werner, of the British Consular service in China, has been occupied for many years. H. R. Tedder, secretary and librarian of the Athenæum Club, is the editor of the series.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. will hereafter publish Stewart Edward White's book, brought out by the Outlook Company, "The Forest." They have in preparation also for the autumn a companion volume called "The Mountains." They publish also by Mr. White, "The Westerners," "The Blazed Trail," "Conjuror's House" and "The Silent Places." They have purchased from Charles Scribner's Sons the rights in Ida M. Tarbell's book, "Madame Roland," which they will add to their list this fall. They have also purchased from the Scribners William Allen White's volume of political stories, "Stratagems and Spoils," which will hereafter appear uniform with their edition of Mr. White's "The Court of Boyville" and "The Real Issue."

IN the library of the late Canon Ainger, which was dispersed at auction the other day, there was a copy of the first edition of "Lamia," with an inscription by the author. In the book, according to the New York Tribune, "an advertisement of 'Hyperion' was printed, reading: 'If any apology be thought necessary for the appearance of the unfinished poem of 'Hyperion' the publishers beg to state that they alone are responsible, as it was printed at their particular request and contrary to the wish of the author. The poem was intended to have been of equal length with 'Endymion,' but the reception given to that work discouraged the author from proceeding.' Above this Keats wrote: 'This is none of my doing; I was ill at the time,' and beneath it, 'This is a lie.'"

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish shortly the first volume of the new history of the United States, 1607-1904, by William Estabrook Chancellor and Fletcher Willis Hewes. The volume deals with the discoveries and explorations of this country in the seventeenth century, and is entitled "Colonization." It has been divided into four parts—population and politics, war and conquest, industry and commerce, and civilization. Each chapter closes with a summary of the important events concerning its subject, a bibliography, and a comprehensive index. Its table of contents is arranged in four columns—one for each section—and divided into year spaces. The history, which will be complete in ten volumes, will deal with the American political institutions, religious organizations, industrial life, prosperity, education, society, public and private philanthropies, pure and applied sciences, the industrial and fine arts, and the progress in numbers, health, morals and intelligence. All these matters will be dealt with in their origins, processes, successive stages, and modern conditions. Not only will the history treat of the events that have affected the general welfare of the country, but also of the events that have affected the welfare of its people individually. Each volume will be arranged in four parts like the first, and will contain a number of maps, colored and in line, as well as a photogravure frontispiece portrait of one of the representative men of the time. Mr. Chancellor is writing on the population, politics, wars and civilization, while Mr. Hewes prepares the record of industries, commerce, finance and statistics, and is responsible for the illustrations, maps, diagrams, indices and tables in all the parts.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY publish this week "Manchu and Muscovite," an important work on Manchuria, by Putnam Weale. The volume consists largely in letters from Manchuria written during last autumn, popular in character and packed with interesting facts about the country and the people and the way in which business is done and affairs are carried on. A historical sketch entitled "Prologue to the Crisis" gives a complete account of the Manchurian frontiers and their history from the earliest days, and of the growth and final meeting of the Russian and Chinese empires in the Amur regions. The book is fully illustrated from photographs. They have also just brought out C. S. Dougall's account of his leisurely pilgrimages through "The Burns Country," illustrated with fifty photographs of unfamiliar scenes; "The Diversions of a Music-Lover," by C. L. Graves, which includes glimpses and reminiscences of famous musicians of modern times, musical criticism, etc.; "Adventures Among Pictures," by Charles Lewis Hind, with many illustrations, some in colors, from the original paintings; Oliphant Smeaton's account of "Edinburgh and Its Story," including descriptions of all parts of the modern town, illustrated from all sorts of sources, ancient and modern; Sir Martin Conway's book on "The Alps," with seventy full-page plates in colors by A. D. McCormick; the volume on "The French Revolution," in the Cambridge Modern History; that on "Leonardo Da Vinci," in the series of Great Masters in Painting and Sculpture; "The Faith of a Christian," by "A Disciple," "Shakespeare Documents: a Chronological Catalogue of Extant Evidence Relating to the Life and Works of William Shakespeare," by D. H. Lambert; and Motley's "The Rise of the Dutch Republic," with Mr. Moncure D. Conway's biographical introduction, in three leather-bound volumes of the York Library.

DANA ESTES & Co. have just ready a "Life of Shakespeare," by Dr. William J. Rolfe, the veteran scholar and commentator, who on more than one disputed point takes issue with usually accepted authorities. The volume is a large octavo, fully illustrated, and contains an exhaustive index. They have also just ready a new one-volume edition of Alexander Dyce's "Glossary to Shakespeare's Works." The present edition contains all of Dyce's references for the illustrative quotations from Shakespeare, with the addition of several new features. Dr. Dyce's references heretofore were only to volume and page of his own edition. For these are substituted references to the particular play, with act, scene and line, in accordance with the numbering of the Cambridge edition. References to the Cambridge text have also been inserted when the word defined as given in that text varies from that of Dyce. In defining words, moreover, Dyce sometimes merely refers to his notes on the play and poem for explanation instead of giving it in the glossary. For these words the information in the notes has been transferred to the glossary, thus making it complete in itself. Other books just brought out by Dana Estes & Company are the following books for young people: "Lou," by Harriet A. Cheever; "The Doings of Nancy," by Evelyn Raymond; "Gloria," by Faith Bickford; "The Rock Frog," by Harriet A. Cheever; "The Lady Spider in the King's Palace," by Harriet A. Cheever; "Puss in the Corner," a rebus book, by Edith Francis Foster; "Patriot and Tory," by Edward S. Ellis; "Defending the Island," by James Otis; and "What Paul Did," by Etheldred B. Barry. In general literature they have just ready "The Historical Romances" of William Ware, in three volumes; the Illustrated Cabinet edition of the "Works" of Edgar Allan Poe, and the Illustrated Sterling editions of the "Works" of Poe, Lamb and Fielding, and of the "Essays" of Macaulay.

BOOKS IN DEMAND.

MORE than 3000 copies of Mrs. Florence Morse Kingsley's novel, "The Singular Miss Smith," were sold on a single day last week, and the publishers have put the book to press for the fourth time.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & Co. are publishing a fourth edition of Stewart Edward White's "The Silent Places," a third edition of Ellis Meredith's "Heart of My Heart," and a sixth edition of "Letters from a Chinese Official."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five non-parcell lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line. Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a non-parcell line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a non-parcell line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

FOR PEOPLE WHO LAUGH

1,000,000 copies of David Harum are said to have sold. Discussion has caused it. If, in the desert of what has been put forth as such, you desire once more to find humor that is real, and literature not to be placed beneath that of Dickens, Thackeray, Irving, since you are not going to forget, get "For People Who Laugh." For P. O. or express order, single copies, heavy laid 120 lb. superior book, 107 pages, cloth bound, gold title copies, $1.00; a, $1.30; 12, $7.00; 50, $22.50; 100, $50.00; 500, $225; 1,000, $400. Red paper cover, green title, half the above, sent by ADAM WELCKER, 331 Pine St., San Francisco, Cal.

COMBINED INDEX

Publishers' Trade List Annual

THERE remain only 185 copies of the original Index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, a comprehensive alphabet covering 1100 pages, with which we shall bind up the Supplementary Index, in an additional alphabet, to the new publications in the Trade List Annuals of 1903 and 1904. This will make a volume from 1350 to 1400 pages—which should be on the shelves of every book-store and every library which does not possess a copy of the original Index of 1902. This "Combined Index, 1902-1904," as it is known, will be furnished, to the extent of 185 copies—"first come, first served"—at a rate of $6.00, cloth-bound, previous to publication, which price will probably be increased on the publication of the Supplementary Index, which is furnished separately at the price of $2.50. To those who are unacquainted with this invaluable work of reference, sample pages will be sent on request, or provisional orders will be entered for sending a copy of the work on approval, carriage paid, in case the edition is not exhausted at the time of publication.

A Series of Eight Volumes on

The American State

For Colleges, Schools, and General Readers

Describing comprehensively the manner in which the governmental agencies of the American State, federal, commonwealth, and local, are organized and administered at the present time.

Edited by W. W. WILLOUGHBY, Associate Professor of Political Science at the Johns Hopkins University.

It is intended that primarily these volumes shall be descriptive of actual conditions. Bibliographical notes will give adequate reference to the best sources of information upon all points discussed or suggested in the text. Each volume, though complete in itself, will have its proper place in the series, and will have been prepared by an acknowledged expert with special reference to that fact. No similar series has been published hitherto.

NOTES IN SEASON.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish during the coming winter season an elaborately illustrated work on Romney, by Mrs. Humphry Ward and W. Roberts.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, have in preparation a new book by Charles Warren Stoddard, entitled "The Island of Tranquil Delight," illustrated with photogravures after photographs. They have also in preparation "The Quincunx Case," by William Dent Pitman, a detective story, with a mystery gathering about a missing chemical formula, the key to a scientific discovery made by a chemist on the eve of his violent death.

THE G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY publish this week a new story by Charles Felton Pidgin, author of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," etc., entitled "The Letter H," which is said to excel in originality of plot and treatment anything thus far written by this successful author. They will publish in August a story of New England life by Mary J. Holmes, entitled "Rena's Experiment," which is the outcome of a very peculiar will, in which two persons, unknown to each other, are left a fortune upon condition that they marry.

W. A. WILDE COMPANY, Boston, have in preparation a volume entitled "Stepping Stones of American History," which will be made up of fourteen historical papers by such authorities as Messrs. Lodge, Long, R. G. Thwaites, Edwin D. Mead, the Rev. William Elliot Griffis, Dr. James K. Hosmer and others equally well known, to illustrate the most important points in American progress from the first European discovery to the adoption of the Constitution. The illustrations, one for each paper, are to be prepared by Frank O. Small, and will accurately reproduce the colors of the original pictures.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in press a new novel by Samuel Rutherford Crockett, author of "An Adventure in Spain," etc., entitled "Grey Galloway," the scene of which is described as a summing up of Galloway character, landscape, manners, and morals, is laid in that part of Galloway usually known as the raiders' country, about which traditions, new and old, have materialized themselves with something of the exactness of history. They have in preparation a biography of Balzac by May F. Sandars, who has drawn as far as possible from original sources. The Vicomte de Spoelberch de Lovenjoul, whose collection of documents relating to Balzac, Gautier and George Sand is unique, and who for many years has made a special study of Balzac, has allowed the author to avail herself of his library at Brussels.

DANA ESTES & COMPANY will publish shortly "The Girlhood of Shakespeare's Heroines," by Mary Cowden Clarke, in five volumes; "The Merryweathers," a new book for girls by Laura E. Richards; "The Minute Boys of the Green Mountains," a book for boys, by James Otis; two new volumes in the Famous Children of Literature series, edited by Frederic Lawrence Knowles; also, "Little Peter," from the "Peter Simple" of Captain Marryat, and "Little Paul," from Dickens's "Dombey & Son;" a new edition of the well-known Zigzag Series, by Hezekiah Butterworth, in seventeen volumes, uniformly bound, and at a reduced price; also, a new edition of Mrs. Richards's "Captain January," in a new binding. They will publish in the early fall a book of poems, entitled "Love Triumphant," by Frederic Lawrence Knowles; the "Novels of Captain Frederick Marryat," in twelve volumes, in their Illustrated Sterling edition; also, a new uniform edition of Mrs. Richards's "Tales and Romances," exclusive of her books for young people.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY

American Educational List, 1904

NOTICE.—In this Catalogue only prices made by publishers themselves are given—retail, if retail, in first column; "net" (wholesale), if "net," in second column; where a "mailing" percentage is specified by the publisher, the "mailing price" is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk (), as well as the wholesale price. When price-columns are left blank, the publisher failed, on application, to furnish price. A double asterisk () in price-columns designates books forthcoming. New books, issued since the List of 1903, are designated by a single asterisk () before title.

For subject classification (and for collective references to classic authors entered here under separate editors), see the second part of the List, following this main alphabet.

Be particular in ordering to specify editions, and to give the full name of the book, as quoted on this price-list. Old editions, superseded by new issues, are not included in this List; see previous issues.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 23, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE STATUS OF SCHOOL BOOKS.

THE American schoolbook is a marvel of enterprise in publishing—which compares most favorably with elementary text-books produced in other educational countries, as England, France, and Germany. In England, such work as that initiated by William and Robert Chambers two generations ago for popular education outside of schools, and also the text-books for higher education, have been specially noteworthy. France, as in the publications of Hachette et Cie., produces remarkably cheap books for school use, and the same may be said of Germany. But it is fair to assert that nowhere in the world are there published such books for schools as in America, where the talent of the ablest writers and teachers, with a genius for "putting things," is employed in the preparation of text-books, where the manufacturing details are so creditable, and where in especial the illustration reaches so high a standard of art character and popular effectiveness. While the price is not so low as in other countries named, more is given for the money, and if it were not for the large cost of exploiting text-books under the present American system of agency methods, their price might be still less. Although the American Book Company, combining, as it did, the forces of a number of the larger American publishers of school-books, holds a large part of the total business in school-books, it is noteworthy that since the organization of this combination a number of houses which were not included in the consolidation have strengthened their work and extended their organization, while other new and successful houses have come into being. Competition is therefore still keen, and incidentally helps to keep up the standard of excellence.

In this number of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY we present, as we have done for more than thirty years, the annual list of American educational books, in which is shown, perhaps more strikingly than in any other way, the extent and variety of educational publishing in this country. The brief subject index at the end, bringing together books of the same class, shows how considerable is the competition of old and new text-books that seek public favor. We have endeavored to eliminate from the list, as usual, books that are practically out of date and no longer in general use—but in some cases old books are still in the market and have to be supplied to schools which do not desire to change standards, even though the change should bring them more up to date. The usefulness of this educational list consists chiefly in bringing together in brief shape for ready reference the titles of the books of all publishers, as to which further information will be found in their respective catalogues.

As to prices, the plan is to give publishers' prices as made by themselves, a two-column system being employed because of the supposed distinction between "wholesale" and "retail" prices. Some years ago, when there was "confusion worse confounded" in the prices of schoolbooks, there was general agreement among educational publishers that a new and less complex system should be adopted. The reform, however, was not accomplished in any organized or definite way, and we adopted for our annual list a two-column system to cover both retail and wholesale prices. But as a matter of fact, the so-called "wholesale" or "net" or "introduction" price is, in the case of most publishers, practically the retail price, and the use of the term "wholesale" is an anomaly. It was not practicable this year to make the change in time, but another year it is proposed to return to the one-column system, based on the publishers' list price. Schoolbooks are as a matter of fact published to-day on a basis somewhat similar to the net system of the American Publishers' Association—that is to say, with close retail prices from which only a moderate discount is allowed to the trade and in the case of large purchases, as by Boards of Education. The list price—misleadingly called "wholesale," "net" or "introduction" price, as above stated, is in fact the price at which a single copy will be supplied to a teacher, the postage being usually, though not always, included in the price stated. The discount allowed covers the case of dealers and Boards of Education who purchase in quantity and hold the books for sale or for distribution to the several schools.

This discount is now so close that the retail trade have in great measure lost their interest in schoolbooks, which used to be a large part of the stock in trade and furnished a large part of their business. There is nevertheless considerable field for wideawake booksellers in most places in handling educational books, and there is one opportunity which is too often forgotten and neglected. The modern American educational book, especially the advanced book for the upper classes, is often the latest and best statement, in a popular way, of its subject, and oftentimes there would be a sale for such books for private reading and individual libraries, which a bookseller would do well to impress upon his customers.

The tendency to State adoption in this country is still evident, though it has been somewhat discouraged by the experience of the State of California. This began half a generation ago by providing for the preparation and publication of a series of text-books of its own, which from the writing to the printing were to be distinctive State productions. The results were not happy, and the State did not long continue this practice. It now pursues the plan of leasing plates from publishers whose books are selected by the State Commission, these books being often prepared or modified by their publishers for State use. They are then issued by the State at a low price and what seems to be a low cost—but the deficiency in the account of the State Printer shows the other side of the story. It is improbable that any State can produce a text-book as cheaply and as satisfactorily as is permitted by the large resources of the leading educational publishers. Many of the States pursue the plan of adopting text-books for their schools through the agency of the State Commission, and making a contract with publishers for the books selected. This again involves a disadvantage, especially in the Procrustean plan of furnishing to schools of all characters, city and country alike, the same classes of books, whereas the different communities really demand different methods of study. Books are apt to be selected by such commissions from other motives than to get the best books—as political and personal influence have altogether too large a share, not to speak of the frequent charges of still less worthy influence, in the selection of books. It is to be regretted, in the interests of education—although dealing on a large scale has certain advantages to publishers—that the old system of local option, of the choice by a school of the books best fitted to its scholars, does not still prevail.

STORY OF THE LATIN GRAMMAR.

FROM an article by Professor Kittredge, of Harvard, on "Some Landmarks in the History of Latin Grammars," published by Ginn & Company in one of their bulletins, we extract the following story of the Latin grammar:

The Latin grammar of the modern school-boy may fairly be said to begin its history with St. Jerome's preceptor, Ælius Donatus, in the fourth century of our era. For five hundred years, to be sure, there had been an almost continuous line of so-called "Roman grammarians,"—from the time when the learned Cilician, Crates of Mallus, appeared in the city (about 167 B.C.) as ambassador from King Attalus II. of Pergamum and made some stir with his lectures on textual criticism and the like. It would be lese-majesty to ignore Lucius Stilo, who flourished in the second and first centuries, B.C., and was regarded as the actual founder of Latin linguistic science. Varro, the polymath, was his pupil and continued the researches which the master had begun. Julius Cæsar, as everybody knows, wrote two books on nouns and verbs. Verrius Flaccus, in the Augustan age, compiled a great lexicon, which has come down to us in the excerpts of Festus and Paul the Deacon. These scholars, however, and many others who might be mentioned, have only an indirect significance for the student of modern education. They investigated and theorized in what was meant to be a philosophical spirit; they gathered great heaps of material, which were freely utilized by later authors; but their teachings were not for school-boys. In the reign of Tiberius, however, a more popular text-book of grammar was written by Remmius Palæmon, who is reputed, on somewhat doubtful authority, to have been Quintilian's teacher. Palæmon adopted his system from a disciple of Aristarchus, the celebrated Dionysius Thrax, who had prepared (about 100 B.C.) a summary Greek grammar containing, in the barest outline, the results arrived at by the Alexandrian school. The Ars Grammatica of Palæmon became at once the Lindley Murray of the Romans. A famous passage in Juvenal's Sixth Satire describes the Roman bluestocking as poring over it for the purpose of catching her friends or her husband in a solecism. The third century was especially given to studying grammar, which, as we approach the year 300, assumes more and more the guise of a practical art, until, in the fourth century, we come to the well-known treatise of Donatus, already mentioned, and to those of his contemporaries Charisius and Diomedes—all having much the same scope and drawing from the same sources. Of these three Artes, that of Donatus was by far the most popular, and, in one shape or another, it maintained its position as an elementary text-book for a thousand years.

We possess the Latin grammar of Donatus in two redactions. The first, or Ars Minor, is a very brief handbook dealing with "right parts of speech." It is arranged in the form of question and answers, and gives only the indispensable definitions and paradigms. The second is more elaborate, though still pretty elementary. It falls into three parts: letters, syllables, etc.; the parts of speech; faults and beauties in language. Both redactions were extensively used as school books through the Middle Ages. The Ars Minor was in the hands of every beginner. Donatista means "primary scholar," and donet became a French and English word for "primer" of Latin, or, indeed, of any other subject.

Donatus was in the full tide of his popularity when printing was invented, and one of the earliest issues of Gutenberg's press was an edition of the Ars Minor, printed on parchment before 1447. A fragment of four pages, found wrapped around a bundle of accounts in the archives of Mainz, is all that is left of this edition. Others followed in quick succession. The form of the minor treatise was sometimes applied to allegorical teaching, as in the Donatus Moralizatus of the celebrated Doctor Christianissimus, Jean Gerson (1363-1429.) The Distichs of Cato, a little handbook of proverbial morality dating from the third or fourth century, was the boys' first reading book from the time of its composition to about the year 1800. Sometimes the grammar and the reader were united in a single manuscript.

The mediæval scheme of education is prettily typified by the Margarita Philosophica of Gregor Reisch, first printed in 1503. The long-coated school-boy is conducted to the Tower of Knowledge by a stately dame who carries in one hand a hornbook with the A B Cs, in the other a key with which she unlocks the gate. Within we discover, on the ground floor, Donatus (duly labelled) instructing a class in the rudiments. One pupil is graduating: he is going up the stairs which lead to the room above, in which Priscian is teaching advanced grammar. This accords with the general practice after the appearance, in the sixth century, of Priscian's Institutiones Grammaticæ, of which about a thousand manuscripts are known. Looking out of the windows in the next story are Aristotle (for logic), Cicero (for rhetoric and poetry), and Boethius (for arithmetic); in the story above are Pythagoras (for music), Euclid (for geometry), and Ptolemy (for astronomy); still higher are Pliny (for natural history) and Seneca (for moral philosophy); and finally, on the summit of the building stands the capped and gowned figure of Peter Lombard, the "Master of Sentences," as the representative of "theology or metaphysics."

For syntax the Middle Ages were dependent in the main upon the confused and incomplete discussion in Priscian's two books De Constructione. In the twelfth century, however, syntax attracted a good deal of attention, and about 1200 appeared the verified Doctrinale of Alexander de Villa Dei (Villedieu in Normandy), which devoted a whole section to this subject. The Doctrinale occupied a distinguished position in the secondary curriculum until the triumph of humanism banished it from the schools. A direct outcome of the struggle against the "barbarism" of Alexander was the activity of Antonio Mancinelli (1452-ca. 1506), whose grammatical tracts are also composed in verse. Mancinelli's Versilogus was a thin volume of rules for writing in meter. The same author's Carmen de Figuris is a manual in which the humanist did not scruple to borrow at least one passage of considerable length from the despised "barbarian." The Grammatica Latina of Melanchthon, first published in 1525, was also put together in opposition to the Doctrinale.

Other humanistic manuals were the grammar of Cantalycius (Cantalicio), at one time a tutor in the Borgia family, and the rhetorical treatise De Sermone Latino of Cardinal Adrian, who visited England in the reign of Henry VII. The cardinal was a distinguished Ciceronian, and his book was intended to aid in the formation of a good prose style.

In England the humanistic movement produced a famous text-book, the history of which brings us down immediately to modern times. This was "Lily's Latin Grammar," which, under various names, remained the standard among English speaking peoples for some three hundred years. William Lily was born about 1468 and died in 1522, so that he was an older contemporary of Melanchthon. He studied in Italy, and was on intimate terms with Colet, More, and Erasmus. The grammar that bears his name is a composite work. The main constituents were an accident in English, prepared by Colet for his new foundation, St. Paul's school, and a syntax, in Latin, drawn up by Lily and revised by Erasmus. These were issued together in a modified form as early as 1540. Another revision, that of 1574, was the Lily of the Elizabethans quoted by Shakespeare, and referred to as the standard of good Latinity, by Ben Jonson, (whose "Lily's Latin is to him unknown," is an adaptation of Chaucer's "French of Paris was to her unknowe,") in his character of the Prioress. A third revision by Dr. John Ward was published in 1732, and became the accepted authority in this country as well as in England.

Two other text-books of interest to American teachers were an eighteenth century New York reprint of John Clarke's Select Colloquies of Corderius,—Mathurin Cordier (1478-1564), the instructor of Calvin, and a scholar celebrated not less for his learning than for his enthusiasm in directing the steps of beginners, and a little volume by Ezekiel Cheever (1615-1708), for nearly forty years headmaster of the Boston Latin school—A Short Introduction to the Latin Tongue: for the use of the Lower Forms in the Latin School. Being the Accidence abridged and compiled in that most easy and accurate Method, wherein the famous Mr. Ezekiel Cheever taught, and which he found the most advantageous by Seventy Years Experience.

The last text-book in our list of notable Latin texts is Roger Ascham's Scholemaster, one of the very few treatises on education that have won a position in the category of literature pure and simple.

STATE ADOPTIONS.

THE past year has been one of unusual activity in the educational trade world. As the result of the growing demand for extended education the ordinary business of the educational publishers has increased greatly, but, according to the New York School Journal, "in addition there have been an unprecedented number of state adoptions which have called for the concentrated attention of the trade. The bookmen have been moved from state to state with great rapidity, and they have proved their ability for successful work in each locality.

"The first large adoption took place in Alabama. Then followed the state of Texas. The latter campaign was of unusual interest, for each successful house received orders for texts by the tens of thousands. Georgia and Indiana in the middle West and South made adoptions in the mid-winter, both of which attracted widespread attention. In the extreme West, California started upon what appears to be an unlimited period of examining text-books. A few have been chosen, but the question of readers, now before the state commission, seems likely to be postponed until fall. The famous California text-book law has been successfully evaded by the fiction of hiring publishers' plates. The experiment of trying to make text-books a home product has proved a decided failure.

"Three Southern states, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee, are the latest to adopt a list of state school-books, and Mississippi is to follow shortly. In addition, Kansas has adopted a list of high school texts, as has Delaware to a limited extent.

"These facts show how strong the tendency toward state adoptions has become. Practically the whole South has adopted this system, which to many educators and publishers as well seems a mistaken policy. The principle of allowing teachers no voice in selecting the books which they will use, on its face is bad. It has been repeatedly demonstrated that the text suited to the needs of one teacher and of one locality is entirely unsuited to the needs of another teacher and another locality. The only merit of the system is the dubious one of cheapness, which should not be permitted to play the large part in adopting text-books which it does play in the case of state adoptions. In the case of the Southern states strict economy in educational matters is, of course, necessary, but the introduction of books of the cheapest grade in the cheapest bindings, which has occurred in several instances, is an ill-advised policy.

"The publishers in general hope that the campaign of state adoptions has almost ended, and that a demand for only the best books, both as to manufacture and contents, will grow up."

FAVORITE BOOKS OF CRIMINALS.

FICTION is the favorite form of literature for the criminal mind, according to a careful record kept by the librarian at Sing Sing State Prison. In the last year 40,500 books were read by the 1200 convicts there, and 29,381 of the books were fiction. Travel and adventure were subjects that ranked second in popularity, and yet only 1575 volumes devoted to these themes were read in the year. Other kinds of books, and the number read, were as follows: Biography, 1227; essays, 1028; history, 953; religion, 792; poetry, 205. Of books in foreign languages German led with 1686 volumes; Hebrew was next, with 1259; Italian was third, with 1067, and French last, with 545.

Among the writers of fiction Dumas is twice as popular as any other author, and 1413 volumes of his works were read by the convicts in the course of the year. Other authors, as represented by the number of their books read, ranked as follows: Charles Reade, 720; Collins, 649; Corelli, 596; Doyle, 584; Dickens, 567; Haggard, 481; Crawford, 415, and Henty, 402.

The convicts are absolutely free to choose what books they please, and, accordingly, their selections, as recorded by the librarian, afford a wholly unreflected light for the student of criminology.

NO DECISION FOR MACY'S.

A SENSATIONAL newspaper report headed "Court finds for Isidor Straus," printed in some New York dailies on July 15th, is somewhat misleading. As may be readily understood, in the progress of every law-suit the court may now order corrections in the plaintiff's motion and then in the defendant's answer in order to avoid errors in the final disposition of the suit, though not necessarily affecting the decision of the court itself. That is what happened in this instance, the court granting a motion on the part of the plaintiff to direct the defendant to make certain portions of his answer specific instead of general. Being merely a matter of detail, the action of the court has no bearing on the eventual issue of the suit whatever.

RECENT COPYRIGHT LITERATURE.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just published for The American Publishers' Copyright League a volume entitled "Copyright Cases and Decisions, a summary of the leading American decisions on the law of copyright, and on literary property, from 1891 to 1903, together with a selection of recent copyright decisions of the courts of Great Britain and Canada, and the text of the United States Copyright Statutes," compiled by Arthur S. Hamlin. The purpose of this compilation is to bring together, for convenient reference on the part of the publishers, authors and others interested in literary property, a summary of the issues that have arisen and the decisions that have been given, since the enactment of the International Copyright Law of 1891, under the statutes controlling copyright and literary property. The collection includes, in addition to the decisions rendered since that date by American courts, a selection of certain English cases of recent date which present matters likely to prove of interest to American publishers and authors. It includes further a brief summary of the recent decisions of the Treasury Department bearing upon the importation, under the copyright law, of books and of works of art. It includes finally the text of the United States Statutes on Copyright in force on January 1, 1904. The cases as summarized present a digest of the legal principles involved by the case. Through a series of cross references the compiler has also been able to bring together cases having to do with similar issues. The compilation should, therefore, serve as a practical guide for the class of questions that arise from time to time in the publishing office and elsewhere in regard to the status and the protection of copyright property.

J. MENÉNDEZ, of Buenos Ayres, has just published an important contribution to copyright literature in a work by Judge Ernesto Quesada, of Libertad, Argentina, entitled "La Propiedad Intelectual en el Derecho Argentino." The work covers very much the same ground for Argentina as the volume compiled by Arthur S. Hamlin for the American Publishers' Copyright League covers for the United States, only it does it more comprehensively. All laws, decrees, treaties and legislative measures relating to copyright are given verbatim, as are given the decisions by Quesada and others in the federal, civil and criminal cases brought to trial. A bibliography of works on the subject by Argentinian, French, Italian, Spanish, Swiss and Belgian writers is also included. (16+492 p. O. pap.)

OBITUARY NOTES.

DR. ISAAC ROBERTS, the well-known astronomer and geologist, died at Starfield, Crowborough, Eng., July 18. He was born in Denbighshire, North Wales, in 1829. Two quarto volumes of his "Photographs of Stars," "Star Clusters," and "Nebulæ," with scientific deductions founded upon them, were published in 1893 and 1900.

DR. WILHELM JORDAN, poet and bookseller, whose death was erroneously reported a year ago, died in Frankfort-on-the-Main, June 25. Dr. Jordan was born February 8, 1819, at Intersburg, in East Prussia. The son of a clergyman, his ambition was to follow in the footsteps of his father, but the political disturbances of the forties induced him to become first a publicist and then a politician. After serving in the Diet at Frankfort and in the ministry of Archduke John, he retired from public life and founded a publishing and bookselling business in Frankfort in 1867, to distribute his own publications, of which there were forty-one, including five translations. His most important work was the reconstruction of the Nibelungen saga—"Sigfridsage" and "Hildebrant's Heimkehr," from which he gave very effective readings in Europe and in this country about thirty years ago.

HENRY S. CROCKER, senior member of the firm of Henry S. Crocker & Co., the oldest stationery and printing concern in San Francisco, died July 18, aged seventy-two. Mr. Crocker was one of the few remaining old-time merchants who emigrated from the East to California early in the forties. He at first engaged in mining, but soon became convinced of the commercial future of California, and in 1856, then a resident of Sacramento, established the firm of H. S. Crocker & Co., which in time became one of the leading business enterprises in the capital city of California. In 1871 the firm felt the need of branching out on a larger scale, and with that purpose in view Mr. Crocker established a branch at the corner of Sacramento and Sansome streets in San Francisco. It was not long before the branch outgrew the home establishment in importance and volume of business, and in 1880 the firm removed its whole business to 215-219 Bush Street, San Francisco. In 1891 the business was incorporated in accordance with the long entertained view of Mr. Crocker, so as to enable all his employees to purchase stock and share in the management and profits of the business. Mr. Crocker was a brother of the late Charles Crocker, one of the builders of the Central Pacific, and an uncle of Henry J. Crocker, a candidate for mayor of San Francisco at the last election. He leaves a son, Charles H. Crocker.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

BLISS PERRY, editor of The Atlantic Monthly, is putting the finishing touches to a volume of essays on "The Amateur Spirit."

CHARLES WHIBLEY proposes to collect and edit a volume of prose and verse by the late W. E. Henley, giving it a biographical introduction containing his personal reminiscences of Henley.

MISS MARY A. JORDAN, Professor of English Literature in Smith College, has just completed her book on "Correct Writing and Speaking," for the Woman's Home Library, edited by Mrs. M. E. Sangster and published by A. S. Barnes & Co.

BEFORE going abroad to spend the summer in Denmark with his people, Jacob A. Riis corrected the proofs of his new book, which will appear in the autumn with the Macmillan imprint. It is a small volume for children, entitled "Is There a Santa Claus?"

F. MARION CRAWFORD's new novel will be entitled "Whosoever Shall Offend." It is a story of contemporaneous life in Rome and Sicily, and deals with a bright Italian child whom fate as represented by evil-disposed persons conspires to render degenerate and criminal, which accounts for the Biblical quotation that forms the first part of the title.

BERNARD CAPES, who has written some readable stories, has completed a new novel entitled "The Extraordinary Confessions of Diana Please." The heroine is an adventuress who figures in some notable events toward the close of the eighteenth century. She has something to do with the Neapolitan rising of 1799, and at this point Emma Hamilton comes into the story.

MONTGOMERY D. CONWAY is to publish his autobiography through Houghton, Mifflin & Co. this fall. During his long and active life Mr. Conway has been personally acquainted with many great writers and famous men. He was born in Virginia, in 1832. He was a correspondent during the Franco-Prussian war, a Unitarian minister, on the staff of several English periodicals, and has written a number of volumes, including biographies of Hawthorne, Paine, Randolph, and Carlyle, several novels and other books.

ALFRED HENRY LEWIS's new novel, upon which the author has been engaged since the publication of his successful story "The Boss," will be called "The President." While the new novel is understood to be first of all a story which gives full scope for the author's humor and imagination, he has nevertheless drawn upon his complete knowledge of the inner side of national politics. As the story unfolds the making of a president several striking figures and scenes are introduced which are likely to make an impression. It is understood that "The President" will be published in the early autumn by A. S. Barnes & Co.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Magazine of Art, published for twenty-six years by Cassell & Co., has been discontinued, or, rather, as the publishers announce in the July issue, "it has been decided to discontinue it in its present form, at least for a time."

THE BROADWAY PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, will publish next month the first number of a new monthly magazine to be entitled The Fifth Avenue Magazine. It is to be illustrated, and will contain, in addition to fiction, stories, literary news, etc. It will sell for five cents per copy; fifty cents a year.

W. E. PRICE, 24 East Twenty-first Street, New York, the founder and editor of the Book and Newsdealer and The Booklover, with which publications he severed his connection about a month ago, announces that in September he will send out the initial number of a new magazine for booklovers to be called The Rose-Jar. The periodical will be published quarterly, and the number of copies printed will be no greater than the number actually subscribed for, and, in any event, not more than 2500 will be printed. Any subscriptions in excess of that number will positively be declined. The Rose-Jar will be made up of "interesting and entertaining literature of literature," the material for which Mr. Price has been gathering for years. It will be sold by subscription only, at $2 a year, and no single copies will be sold.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The American Gymnasia Company has been incorporated to do a publishing business with a capital stock of $10,000, by Everett B. Moro, Chester F. Hill and Edwin W. Cole.

CHEHALIS, WASH.—L. H. Leach, bookseller, has been succeeded by Vaughn & Day.

MONTREAL, CANADA.—The Technical Book and Magazine Co. has just opened business at 118 Mansfield Street. F. Bruce Horn is the business manager.

OGDEN, UTAH.—The Ross Book and Stationery Company has filed articles of incorporation, to take over and extend the business of Charles D. Ross. The officers of the company are L. W. Shurtiff, president; Warren L. Wattis, vice-president; E. S. Rolapp, secretary and treasurer; Charles D. Ross, manager. The new firm will enter the wholesale jobbing business and enlarge its present quarters in the Eccles Block.

PETERSBURG, VA.—William Budd & Co., booksellers, have dissolved partnership. J. Leslie Watson will continue the business.

SANTA ROSA, CAL.—The Platt Book and Stationery Company will shortly remove from B Street to Fourth Street to large and handsomely fitted up quarters.

SEATTLE, WASH.—George C. Shaw, for three years buyer for the book department of The Fair and the George W. McAlpine Co., of Cincinnati, is making his headquarters here for the present with C. M. Shaw & Co., Colman Dock. He will be pleased to have the latest catalogues and price lists.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. are now in control of Smith's "Civics," formerly owned by the Lothrop.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have acquired King's geography, formerly published by the Lothrop Publishing Company.

JOSIAH JORDAN has re-entered the editorial trade field as manager of the school book department of the Central Supply House.

GOUPIL & Co., Paris, are about to publish a subscription work dealing with the famous French artist, Nattier, the favorite painter of the Court of Louis xv. The book will contain reproductions of about 60 of Nattier's best portraits.

CUPPLES & LEON, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York, have just added two new titles to their series of Comic Books, namely, "Lulu and Leander," drawn and designed by F. M. Howarth; and "The Adventures of Mr. Jack," by James Swinnerton.

ROBERT GRIER COOKE recently delivered the alumni oration at the commencement exercises of Lehigh University, South Bethlehem, Pa. His subject was "Publicity," and he endeavored to show what an important part this quality, in its best sense, plays in the achievement of success.

CHATTO & WINDUS, London, promise for the fall the first volume of the "Dictionary of the Drama," upon which W. Davenport Adams has been engaged for many years. The book is to deal on an alphabetical plan with theatres, dramatists, actors and plays in Great Britain and America, from the earliest days down to the present time. The first volume will carry the record from A to G.

WE are requested to warn the book trade against buying an early edition of Shakespeare, in good condition, bound in bright red morocco. Inscribed in ink, on the second page of the cover, is the name of either K. O. Phillips, or Kezia Osborne Phillips, 52 Shaftesbury Road, Ravenscourt Park, Hammersmith. Report should be made to Police Station, Broadway, Hammersmith, London, Eng.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have in press Sainte-Beuve's "Portraits of the Seventeenth Century," translated by Katherine P. Wormeley. The work will be in two volumes, with thirty illustrations. They will also publish in the fall the two concluding volumes of Dr. Morgan Dix's "History of the Parish of Trinity Church in the City of New York," which was originally intended to be complete in three volumes.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just published a "Treatise on Applied Anatomy," by Dr. Edward H. Taylor, of Dublin University, fully indexed and illustrated with 178 figures and plates from original drawings, many of them printed in colors. They have also just brought out editions in paper covers of Maurice Thompson's novel, "Sweetheart Manette," which enjoyed a large sale a few years ago, and "The Price of a Wife," one of the most popular of John Strange Winter's stories.

D. C. HEATH & Co. have just published "Essentials of Composition and Rhetoric," by Professor A. H. Espenshade, of Pennsylvania State College. The book gives a clear statement of the essentials of the subject and furnishes the student with sufficient constructive and critical exercises. The subject is discussed in an interesting way and the illustrative examples and exercises are entirely new. The book is written from a practical rather than a literary point of view, and is designed for use in high schools and the first year of college.

IN our account of "How Mommsen Came to Write His History of Rome," the printer in correcting the third line from the top of the second column on page 81, instead of inserting the slug with the words, "as late as 1885, when the first three volumes," repeated the words that already occur in the second line from the bottom of the first column. There are certainly more ways in a linotype to perpetrate fool tricks than were ever dreamt of in the philosophy of the old-time hand compositor—and we all know how expansive and varied that philosophy was.

HARPER & BROTHERS are publishing a new impression of the revised edition of Senator

Lodge's "Short History of the English Colonies in America." Senator Lodge is the author of several other volumes of history and biography, among them an able "Life of Alexander Hamilton." He is one of the few senatorial authors who have achieved a genuine literary reputation, Senator Beveridge, author of "The Russian Advance," and Senator Hoar, of "Autobiography" fame, being the only other author-senators whose names immediately suggest themselves.

AMONG the books on Doubleday, Page & Co.'s list for late summer and September are "A Belle of the Fifties," being the memoirs of Mrs. Clay of Alabama; "Letters of Robert E. Lee," edited by his son; and, notably, Rudyard Kipling's new volume of stories, "Traffics and Discoveries," and George H. Lorimer's "Old Gorgon Graham," which as a serial is now even more popular than the very successful "Letters of a Self-Made Merchant to his Son." The same house also publishes a large and beautiful handbook to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, a volume of 400 pages, issued as a double number of The World's Work for August. There are three special editions of this issue bound in cloth and leather.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have in preparation a series of biographies of Americans (not living) whose names are known to virtually all reading people, written by the most capable authors who can be interested in the task. The series will probably be called Leading Americans, and will be classified somewhat as follows, some classes naturally occupying more than a single volume: Actors, Artists, Authors, Capitalists, Clergymen, Doctors, Editors, Educators, Engineers, Inventors, Judges, Lawyers, Naval Commanders, Pioneers, Scientists, Soldiers, Statesmen. It is intended that the books shall be biographies rather than treatises on the various fields of activity in which their subjects gained eminence; and that it shall be true to this series, as was lately well said of a European series, that "the statesmen are not overshadowed by historical information, or the poets by literary criticism."

GINN & Co. have just brought out a little book entitled "Sea Stories for Wonder Eyes," by Mrs. A. S. Hardy, that will prove interesting to children, and even to adults, who are accustomed to visit the seashore. The work is designed to arouse an interest in the wonders of the water world and to answer some of the questions about sea life that are most puzzling to children—questions that children of a larger growth are often unable to answer. At the same time it is meant to encourage original investigation and to stimulate the pupil to make further discoveries. Although the book is primarily intended for sojourners by the sea, it will doubtless be of great value to those who are unable to visit the ocean but who long to know of its treasures. They have also just ready "Smith's Grammar School Arithmetic," which continues the work begun in the author's "Primary Arithmetic" along more advanced lines but on the same principles.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five non-parallel lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a non-parallel line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a non-parallel line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

THE ARTS OF LIFE

By RICHARD ROGERS BOWKER

New revised edition, 16mo, p. viii + 306, flexible leather, net, $1.25

ALSO FROM THE SAME, SEPARATELY ISSUED:

OF EDUCATION

With papers on The Scholar and The College of To-day.
16mo, p. 115, cl., 75c.

OF BUSINESS

16mo, p. 54, cl., 50c.

OF POLITICS

16mo, p. 67, cl., 50c.

OF RELIGION

16mo, p. 73, cl., 50c.

"A book which may be said to fix the highest watermark of the progressive thought of the closing century. The opening sentence of the first chapter—the Foreword—contains the fundamental idea of the whole book: 'Life is an art'."—Library News-Letter, Wilkes Barre, Pa.

"Life is presented through its various forms of expression as the highest of all the arts, and this art is perfected by education, not only through its technical processes but through business, politics, and religion; personality attaining its complete growth only as it is drawn out through these large activities, and only as it adequately expresses itself in these comprehensive relationships."—The Outlook.

"The Arts of Life' teaches that of all the knowledge in life the knowing how to live is the most important. The perfect life is that which is in accord with the underlying, pervasive, universal scheme of things."—Public Opinion.

"The essayist is thoughtful, original, comprehensive, and classic. In many places he is ideal, brilliant, and very suggestive, well-nigh a master in thought and expression."—Zion's Herald.

"Mr. Bowker's own thoughts are worth being thus recorded for the benefit of others. But the indirect interest of his book, its stimulating influence, will be to many of his readers quite as real a reason for enjoying what he has written. He writes in an easy, fluent style which still does not lack acceptable crispness and force. What he has to say is invariably said well, although with no affectation or parade."—The Congregationalist.

"We will not venture to say that the book contains no error; but we do say that it contains in little space very much important truth; truth well put, easily understood, and such as—to use a phrase of Lord Bacon's, of whose essays Mr. Bowker's sometimes remind us in more than their titles—comes home to men's business and bosoms."—Boston Advertiser.

"The whole volume is an attractive treatment of the many questions of social economics that are every day giving thinking people food for thought. Mr. Bowker is clear in his argument and charming in the purity of his diction, and the reputation of the Riverside Press for artistic work is fully maintained."—Springfield Republican.

"In an age so full of feverish eagerness to drink the wine of life to the lees and wait not, we may well be grateful for every such calm survey of the larger possibilities of existence and its finer aspirations, and no one can read Mr. Bowker's volume without feeling that the atmosphere of his workaday world has been cleared somewhat by the breath of some diviner air blown upon him from the heights."—The Dial.

Of Education

"Very seldom indeed has a more illuminating word been written on education."—Hartford Courant.

Of Business

"The essays on business and politics are the most striking and most valuable. In the former we have an admirable account of labor, capital, trusts, wages, profit—in fact, all the questions so prominent in our modern economic life."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

Of Politics

"The essay on politics is especially well-conceived and luminous. It is full of such information as the American citizen ought to know."—Church Standard, Phila.

"His essay on politics is one of the best things that we have lately read. Not that we accept all it contains; but what it presents is so clearly presented and the temper of its style is so reserved and fair that reading it is like listening to the talk of an urbane and diplomatic man of the world."—The Independent.

"It is the work of a thoughtful man, who would see America built up on the good which lies ready in the other nations to our hand, if we would but look for this rather than for the evil. It is throughout a book of reconcilements, and of proof that life, with many sides, has one heart."—Chicago Evening Post.

"It is occasion for thankfulness that there are such wise, brave, and inspiring books as 'The Arts of Life.' It is an optimistic not an easy-going faith that influences the treatment of these subjects, and the chapter on 'Politics' is noteworthy in its firm and brilliant handling of the significance of our American form of government, with its mistakes, perils, and triumphs."—The Living Age, Boston.

Of Religion

"The chapter on religion is a noble expression of broad and sympathetic thought and feeling."—Library News-Letter, Wilkes Barre, Pa.

"It is one more contribution to the mass of argument which seeks to persuade those thoughtful enough to read it that the kingdom of God is within us and that environment cannot shake our soul's peace if we will that it shall not. The white light of this great truth dawned upon the world nineteen centuries ago. Such books as 'The Arts of Life' are prisms; they help us to see the component parts of the steady ray."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902 and the Index thereto.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1852). Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year; single numbers, except special numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, $02 a year; single numbers, 22. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. vols. 1-22, 1876-1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEYBOLD, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consumer is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876-84 and 1884-90 are also out of print.

THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE. Cumulated, containing yearly the monthly lists in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, cumulated, giving in one alphabet, by author, title, and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by the latest volume. It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1903, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $4.00.

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 300 American publishers. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with Supplementary Index 2 v., 8°, net, $4.50.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $5.00. Supplementary Index for 1903. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $2.50. The two volumes bound in one, $6.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the cooperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. [London: Sampson Low, Marston & Co.] 8vo, cloth, net, $1.50. THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE and THE ANNUAL AMERICAN CATALOGUE, 1900-1903, bound in one volume, cloth, $5.00.

PUBLICATIONS OF SOCIETIES: a provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary, and other societies from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules over 1100 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 4°, paper, $2.50; cloth, $3.00.

STATE PUBLICATIONS: a provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Pt. 1: New England States—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut. Pt. 2: North Central States—New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. 4°. (For complete work, $5.00.)

THE NEW AND COMPLETE Webster's Imperial Dictionary

Published August 1, 1904

2150 Pages New Plates

It supersedes all its predecessors by 14 years in point of time, "Webster's International" being copyrighted in 1890 and "Webster's Imperial," 14 years later, in 1904. In point of contents it is superior to all of its predecessors. Entirely re-edited and brought to date.

A Stale Egg and An Old Dictionary are of equal value—each is what it is known as, but neither can be depended upon.

"Webster's International" has from A to Z 1681 pages; "Webster's Imperial," from A to Z has 1956 pages and no supplement—it needs none—it's up to date.

The Price? Oh! Yes. $5.00

New publishers, that's the reason why it's so low. Bound in full sheep, indexed. Just half the price of its predecessor and much better. If it's not satisfactory return it and get your money back. Isn't that fair?

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY announce for issue in October Jack London's new novel, "The Sea-Wolf," which is now running as a serial in The Century Magazine.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, are about to issue a translation from the Swedish, by Rebecca Blair Flandrau, of Alexandria Kielland's novel, "Professor Loodahl."

DODD, MEAD & Co. will very shortly bring out the third volume in Andrew Lang's "History of Scotland," to be completed in four volumes. In the first two volumes the author has endeavored to introduce the personal element when vouched for by documents and contemporary letters.

GEORGE BRUMDER, Milwaukee, has just published a simple little story of a 'little green-horn' who makes his way up in the new world, appropriately entitled "Pluck." The story is written by Judge George Grimm, of Jefferson, Wis., widely known throughout the State as an able lawyer, jurist and orator.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just brought out a new illustrated edition of "The Sign of the Cross," by the late Wilson Barrett. This edition contains eight illustrations that are reproductions of scenes taken from the play. They have in preparation a posthumous novel by Mr. Barrett, entitled "The Never-Never Land."

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish in September a notable book in "Letters from the Holy Land," by Ernest Renan. The book will contain the correspondence of Renan with M. Berthelot while gathering material in Italy and the Orient for the famous "Life of Jesus." In these letters the marvellous style of the great Frenchman is revealed in an attitude of abandon not found in his more celebrated works, and full of freshness and charm. Frankness marks all the communications. The letters have been translated by Lorenzo O'Rourke, who contributes an introduction.

THE HOME PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, will publish on August 15 a new novel by Archibald Clavering Gunter, entitled "My Japanese Prince." Though the very peculiar story takes place in Tokyo and Manchuria, the heroine of it is an American girl, the daughter of a great bridge contractor erecting bridges on the Trans-Siberian Railroad for the Russian Government. Appreciating that the book will have a very large sale, the publishers are preparing to issue a popular edition in cloth at fifty cents a copy, so as to put it within the reach of everybody, and yet in a cover sufficiently attractive for any library. The book will also be published uniform with Mr. Gunter's other works at $1.50 a volume.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish early in August the novel upon which Irving Bacheller, author of "Eben Holden," has been at work for two years past, the title of which is "Vergilius." The story is a radical departure from Mr. Bacheller's other works. The hero is a young patrician of Rome, in the lax days just preceding the nativity, and the story is essentially one of love and of plot and counterplot, with a spiritual undertone. There are scenes in the book that are promised to prove a great surprise to the admirers of this author, the incident of the hero's desperate contest with his enemy at the Herodian games being one of the most dramatic. The publishers have decided to make a departure also in the matter of cost, and instead of this being the usual $1.50 novel, "Vergilius" will be published at the popular price of $1.35, which, under the rules at which fiction may be sold, will bring the selling price down to one dollar, in some cases, possibly, to ninety-eight cents.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price.

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Th. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. (48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Alborn, G. C. Ish Kerioth: the story of a traitor. Bost., Morning Star Publishing House, 1904. c. '03. 6+263 p. por. D. cl., $1.

Ish Kerioth (Man of Kerioth) is quoted as the probable Hebrew original of the Greek English Iscariot. In order to preserve the Jewish atmosphere of the story this form of the name is retained. The author's purpose is to interpret the character and motives of the traitor apostle. The events are presented from Judas' point of view according to the Gospels. The tale is founded on several years' study of the life of Judas as depicted by Biblical authorities.

Benson, E. F. The Challoners. Phil., Lip-pincott, 1904. [Jl.] c. 3-345 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

The author of "Dodo" under the above title writes a novel of English home life. The Challoners consisted of Helen and her twin brother Martin, and their father the Honorable and Reverend Sidney Challoner, who had lost his beautiful Italian wife when the twins were babies. His children are a great trial to Mr. Challoner, from the difference in their characters. Martin has a genius for music, and neglects his studies, failing to enter Cambridge. Helen is loved by a man who is an atheist, and whom she refuses to give up at her father's request. The story is well carried through, with plenty of bright dialogue.

Although intended for beginners, this manual may be also used as an introductory study of botany where pupils have had but a limited experience in handling specimens. Since the foundation of all science is in observation, the work here given is planned with a view to training and developing the power of accurate observation. The lessons are arranged to set forth what a child can learn about a given subject in an hour. Designed for city schools. The author is in the Department of Elementary Science, New York Training School for Teachers.

- Confessions of a railroad man. N. Y., Steamboat Railroad Industrial Community, 1904. c. 2+159 p. D. cl., $1.
For reasons of his own, the writer withholds his name, although it is admitted he is a prominent railroad man of New York. It was at the suggestion of a well-known literary man met on an ocean voyage that he dictated these amusing chapters from his own experience. Beginning with his life when a boy, he shows how by his own efforts he rose to positions of trust and finally became a railroad man. The book is rich in anecdotes that will especially appeal to railroad men.

The author has endeavored to present a clear and comprehensible discussion of the essentials of rhetoric and English composition, and to furnish the student with suitable exercises in construction and criticism. The statement of rhetorical principles as set forth in the text and the exercises placed at the end of each chapter are the outgrowth of nine years' experience in the teaching of high school and college students. The book is especially designed to furnish a practical course for pupils in the high school and for freshmen in college.

The author's purpose is to place medicine on "the rational basis" from whence, it is declared, bacteriological aberrations have been endeavoring to banish it." Dr. Rosenbach, as his translator points out, fully appreciates the value of bacteriology as a biological science, and is well aware what surprising information and important methods are to be found in its study, but he aims to overthrow the fallacious conclusions that have been established, that all infectious diseases are caused by bacteria, and that all diseases in which so-called specific bacteria are found are infectious diseases. The twenty-six essays embraced include discussions of every side of the question.

A domestic comedy, which tells the love story of Regina Whittaker, who had original ideas and who was noted for independent thought and action. Regina is seen as a wife and mother, as a member of societies and clubs, as a client of beauty doctors, hair dressers, milliners, and other friends and foes of modern social life, in brief she is not only viewed in the light of her "little vanities," but she likewise poses as a jealous woman, and is seen in other situations which make her a notable character study.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JULY 30, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BOOK EXHIBITS AT THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION.

FRANCE.

OF the foreign book exhibits displayed in the Palace of Liberal Arts that made by the French booktrade, collectively, is easily first in point of attractiveness. In making the grand tour of the grounds from the West to the East, and entering the central doorway of the Palace, the legend, "France," over the portal to the right directs the visitor to the book exhibit which appropriately occupies the place of honor in the arrangement of the spacious suite of exhibits under the direction of the French Republic. The book exhibit which was installed under the supervision of M. Emil Terquem, an officier d'Instruction publique, whose wide experience as director of French book exhibits at the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia, at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago, and of the American book exhibits at the world's fairs in Paris in 1878, 1889 and 1900, is also in evidence in St. Louis. It is at present in charge of his son, M. Jean Terquem, a very capable young man, whose thorough training in France, Germany and England, especially his command of three languages, gives him the advantage of most representatives of foreign exhibitors as a cicerone through the section entrusted to his care. M. Terquem has indeed succeeded in making an ideal book corner of his space. The large reading-table in the centre, the comfortable chairs surrounding it, and the plentitude of magazines, catalogues and directories, all placed generously at the disposal of the public, make the book exhibit of the French section unique in itself and altogether delightful. The catalogue of the exhibit is a gem of bookmaking, printed on excellent paper, many of the pages bordered with a red line, illustrated with choice etchings, engravings and plates, many of them printed in colors, and bound in blue grained morocco. Prefacing the catalogues proper is a brief account of the Cercle de la Librairie, with illustrations showing the exterior and the principal rooms of the home of the Cercle, a list of the presidents of the Cercle from 1847 to 1901, a list of the societies allied with the booktrade organization, etc. To this prefatory matter is added a facsimile reproduction of a fragment of a map of old Louisiana, prepared by Sr. Delisle in 1718. In all there are 230 small quarto pages, describing the principal lines of fifty of the 121 exhibitors.

In the wall and low cabinet cases there is a perfect system of arrangement. Beginning at the left with the publications of the Cercle de la Librairie we find the collections of such publishers as Théophile Belin, A. Rouquette and R. Ferrond, some in magnificent editions, notably a $700 copy of "Paul and Virginia," a $120 edition of Fontaine's "Les Amours de Psyché et de Cupidon" and a "History of Dancing in Paris," ("Paris Dansant,") by Georges Montorgueil, while M. de Brunoff et Cie show the last work of J. James Tissot in a $500 Bible, with four hundred colored etchings by the great artist. With the collection shown by the Cercle de la Librairie is the exhibit of the Cent-Bibliophiles, whose publications are only for its members. Grouped about these collections are the exhibits of the archæological works made by A. Picard et Fils, the different collective exhibits of Dr. Pozzi, and Guilmo's new work on Louisiana, ("Last Years of French Louisiana.") In fact, all of the more important publishers, binders and engravers are thoroughly represented in their best books on every line of thought. Architectural books from Charles Schmid, Émile Thégar, E. Ducher and Armand Guérinet; art works published by Henri Laurens and Edouard Rouveyre; scientific books from Ch. Bé ranger, Bernard & Co. and A. Gauthier-Villars; literary and classical publications from Flammarion, Colin, Hetzel, Belin Frères, Plon, Houssiaux, Delagrave, Hachette, Jules Tallandier, Picard & Kaan, Larousse, Coulet, Lemerre and Enoch & Co. E. & A. Durand et Fils show music publications, and all the Paris fashion periodicals are bound and on display. Bound missals with handsome enamels, Jules Hauteceur's hand etchings on parchment, embossed leather bindings by St. Andre de Lignereux, and crushed levant morocco bindings hand-tooled from Mercier, Gruel, Chambolle, Lortic and David are among the most noteworthy works exhibited by the bookbinders. Upon the walls are framed original drawings and etchings, among which those from Publications Illustrées pour la Jeunesse are particularly worth inspection.

GERMANY.

From the French section of the Palace of Liberal Arts the visitor passes to the east end of the building, where Germany's immense and comprehensive exhibit of books and book-making and, one might almost say, the technique of books, is under the charge of Mr. F. Walter Degener, representative of the German Bookcraft Association. It is unfortunate that many of the articles in this exhibit have been damaged because of the insufficient protection afforded against the snow and rain by defects in the roof and through the carelessness of painters and decorators, none of which damage has been made good by the Exposition Company. But in spite of these drawbacks the exhibit is in fine order, occupying several rooms—the books, engravings and the reproductive processes, bookbinding, printing presses and machinery, etc., all being comprehended in the book exhibit. The official catalogue of this exhibit, which is being printed at the Imperial Printing Office at Berlin under the direction of Professor Peter Behrens, director of the technical art school at Düsseldorf, has been delayed, and may not be ready until the latter part of August. The volume will be a quarto of 580 pages, bound in grey leather with ornate decorations.

In the main room pre-empted by the publishers of miscellaneous books are shown the productions of 249 different firms. To specialize would take too much space. It must suffice to say that everywhere is noticeable a great advance in the art of bookmaking. It has heretofore been a weakness of the German publisher to make the exterior of his books as plain and uninviting as the contents of the books were solid and of lasting literary value. Since the fair at Chicago a marked change has taken place, and while many of the exteriors still lack the grace and attractiveness of the ordinary French and American book, they give promise of reaching that standard in another decade if not sooner.

Everywhere with the books are shown art photographs, engravings, colored plates and specimens of the reproductive processes. Among the more noticeable of these are the chromo-lithographic work shown by the Bookcraft Association of Leipzig; the fine large maps and globes printed by Dietrich Reimer, of Berlin; the series of plates, (ninety-one in number,) of minerals from the splendid work "Das Mineralreich," by Dr. Reinhard Brauns, published by Lehmann, of Stuttgart; and the exhibit of woodcuts from the Illustrirte Zeitung shown by J. J. Weber, of Leipzig, etc.

In the room devoted to chromo-lithographic work, etchings, etc., Meissner & Buch, of Leipzig, show their fine souvenir postal cards, etc., and Ernst Nister, of Nürnberg, his English juveniles, with fine colored illustrations, colored greeting cards and art reproductions on china. In this section will also be found a curio entitled "Marksteine aus der Weltliteratur in Original Schriften," being examples of all written languages in pages with decorated borders and illuminations, with corresponding pages in a German translation. There is also shown here a complete exhibit of comic periodicals, magazines, folios, albums and gift books.

In the room occupied by the music publishers there are six thousand different new music books, technical and popular. The walls of this room are appropriately decorated with pictures of the great masters of music.

One small room of the exhibit is devoted entirely to the exhibit of German national pictures and to the Golden Book of the Germans, on the pages of which many sons and daughters of the Fatherland are inscribing their names as return greetings to those of the German Emperor, the German Federal princes, the statesmen, artists and scholars who created the book.

The most interesting single exhibit of this great conglomerate of exhibits is that made by the Imperial Printing Office of Berlin, beginning with its artistic sign board bearing Schiller's words,

"Körper und Stimme verleiht die Schrift dem stummen Gedanken, Durch der Jahrhunderte strom trägt ihn das redende Blatt."

translated into twenty-six languages, among them indifferently into English as follows:

"Writing lends both body and voice to the thought that was voiceless,
On with the current of time borne by the eloquent page."

In this exhibit are shown, among others, the exquisite edition of "Die Nibelunge," published by Stargart, of Berlin; Botticelli's drawings for Dante's "Divine Comedy," reproduced in phototype for Grote of Berlin; heliographic copies in colored copper-plate prints of engravings and mezzotints; artistic bookbindings, and specimens of hand-made papers with artistic water-marks.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Great Britain is represented by the exhibits of fifty-three firms, each showing a small collection of miscellaneous books ranging from superb éditions de luxe to an ordinary shilling book. The Oxford University Press makes a fine showing of educational and scientific books and of their Bibles, liturgies, etc. Rivière, Zaehnsdorf and Cedric Chivers show fine specimens of their book bindings.

In the Irish Village on "The Pike" are several cases of books, from Brown & Nolan, Sealy, Bryers & Walker and M. H. Gill, of Dublin, including some miscellaneous collections, Irish book-plates and some good hand-tooling from the Dun Emer Industries. There are also shown here some interesting volumes in the Loan and Historical Collection, including the Keltic Book of Legain, the Book of Ballymote, the Book of Leinster and Leabhar Breac.

OTHER FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

ARGENTINIA has a large collection of newspapers and periodicals.

BELGIUM in its national building shows a number of school and university textbooks, pamphlets, periodicals, etc.

BRAZIL shows official and practical documents, books on agriculture and kindred subjects.

CHINA, in the Palace of Liberal Arts, shows a book of manuscript essays by Chien Lung, Emperor from 1736-1796.

CUBA shows magazines, commercial and medical reviews, newspapers, and some educational books.

ITALY has a small exhibit of technical books on mural construction, natural history and geography, and a small collection of fiction and poetry.

JAPAN in an attractive booth in the Palace of Liberal Arts prints a Japanese-American Weekly.

A. L. A. HINTS TO BOOKBUYERS.

A NEW rule of U. S. Treasury Department requires importers to file at custom house, within 90 days of entry, receipts for all books imported free of duty. In spite of protests a decision has just confirmed this regulation. Renewed protests are now in order from all librarians. They may be based upon the following facts: (1) The receipt is no further preventive of fraud than the affidavit already furnished by the librarian and the importer. (2) The new regulation makes extra work for the importer as well as for the librarian and for the liquidating division of the custom house. Importers are hinting that this may make necessary an increase of rates to libraries. (3) This new regulation if insisted upon will tend to discourage importation and correspondingly cripple the libraries in their work.

About a month after the regulation came into force, the Secretary of the Treasury sent out a Department letter to all collectors asking them to construe liberally the law regarding free importation for public institutions. This may mean that the head of the Department will be inclined to act favorably on requests that the regulation be rescinded. Address protests to him or to any member of Congress.

The total cost of a book is represented by first cost plus cost of preserving and caring for it during its life. At the end of its life it must be replaced. Counting the expense of mending, rebinding and replacement, the total cost of a so-called "cheap" edition to the library for a period of years may exceed that of a better book with a stronger binding. A recent experiment with extra stout bindings showed that a well-bound popular book may circulate once a week for two years without rebinding, while ordinary bindings may wear out twice in this time, necessitating, besides the expense of rebinding, the withdrawal of the book from circulation for several weeks or even months. In such cases it will pay to have a stout binding to start with.

On the other hand, a book that circulates only twice a year and then among people who will give it careful use, does not need to be so strongly bound. Money spent on mere strength in this case might be wasted.

Doubleday, Page & Co. furnish their books in extra strong bindings if desired, charging a small advance in price for them. Doubtless other publishers would do the same if there should be sufficient demand. Cedric Chivers, of Bath, England, procures sheets of standard and current works direct from publishers and binds them with very exceptional strength. Send for his catalogue. Mr. Chivers is about to start a branch bindery in New York, which he expects to open in November. Several binders in this country offer special forms of strong library binding.

A MEDICAL GRAMMARIAN.

J. D. SYLVIVS, born in 1478, whose name is so associated with the anatomy of the brain, according to the Medical Book News, was a famous grammarian in his day and wrote a popular Latin grammar. The Gazette médicale de Paris states that he was the first to propose and use two distinct letters for i and j, and for u and v. He was also the originator of the French accents, distinguishing between the three sounds of e: e, è and é. Several members of the Etienne family, the celebrated printing firm, were also physicians.

OBITUARY NOTES.

PROFESSOR EDUARD MURET, the well-known lexicographer, editor of Muret's "Encyclopædic English-German and German-English Dictionary," etc., died July 3, at Gross-Lichterfelde, near Berlin, Prussia.

WILLIAM DAVENPORT ADAMS, author and journalist, died in London, July 27. Mr. Adams, who had been head of the reviewing department of the London Globe since 1885, was born in Edinburgh, in 1851. Before his connection with the Globe he was editor of several provincial papers. Mr. Adams wrote many books, among them a "Dictionary of English Literature," "By-Ways in Bookland," "A Book of Burlesque," "Lyrics of Love," "Song of Society," etc. "A Dictionary of the Drama," upon which he was engaged for many years, is about to be published by Chatto & Windus.

JOHN ROGERS, the sculptor of the famous "groups" of Civil War days, died at his home in New Canaan, Conn., July 26. Mr. Rogers was born in Salem, Mass., in 1829, and first started in business as a clerk in a dry goods store. Later he spent seven years in Manchester, N. H., learning the trade of a machinist. In 1857 he was at Hannibal, Mo., when the panic broke out and threw him out of work. He then determined to cultivate his talent for sculpture and went to Rome and Paris. His first group, "The Checker Players," was finished in 1859. When the war broke out he produced "The Slave Auction," that quickly made his name known. Then followed "The Picket Guard," "The Union Refugees," "Sharpshooters," and a number of other groups, all of the same general style. These "groups" for years were a favorite and very profitable side line of the booksellers throughout the country.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

THE veteran Norwegian author, Jonas Lie, intends to leave Paris, where he has been living for many years, and reside for the future in Norway.

THE anonymous author of "The Life of a Prig" has written "The Adventures of King James the Second of England," which will be published in the fall by Longmans, Green & Co.

It is announced that the English memorial to R. D. Blackmore, author of "Lorna Doone" has not only been fully paid for by the subscriptions, but the committee reports a surplus of £20, which has been presented to the Pension Fund of the Author's Society. As memorial funds are prone to run short of rather than to exceed the required sum, the popularity of the memorial is evident.

CHARLES WAGNER, author of "The Simple Life," and "By the Fireside," has completed his arrangements for a lecture tour in America. He will spend two months or more here, and will be under the management of the J. B. Pond Lecture Bureau. His tour will commence in October, and he will deliver addresses both in French and English to institutions, colleges, etc. He will also deliver a series of lectures for children.

THE admirers of the late Rt. Hon. W. E. H. Lecky, O.M., are making arrangements to erect a memorial on some site within the precincts of Trinity College, Dublin. It has been estimated that a bronze statue by an eminent artist would cost about £1500. The sum of £960 has already been raised by public subscription; the remaining £540, it is believed, will be subscribed by Lecky's many friends and admirers in this country. Subscriptions may be sent to the Honorary Treasurers, Lecky Memorial Fund, 36 Molesworth Street, Dublin.

THOSE readers who are aware that Joseph Conrad is a Pole have probably frequently wondered at his very English-sounding name. The fact is, however, that Mr. Conrad has a name kept hidden, which if he used it would leave no doubt as to his nationality. Should he use his full baptismal title, it would be Joseph Conrad Korzeniowski. Mr. Conrad, when he was a sailor on an English merchantman, found his messmates incapable of handling his jaw-breaking cognomen and therefore dropped it, so English literary people are spared another name to add to the list of impossible ones, which already includes Sienkiewicz, Tourgenieff, Dostoievsky, Hvoschinskaya, etc., etc.

It is proposed as a means of honoring the memory of the late Robert Proctor to collect and publish in one volume all his bibliographical essays and papers, with a memoir prefixed, and to prepare for press, with liberal illustration, the three remaining sections of his "Index of Early Printed Books," comprising the books in the British Museum printed in Italy, France and elsewhere from 1501 to 1520. Under unpaid supervision it is estimated that the preparation of the remaining sections of the Index will cost about $2500, while on the volume of Mr. Proctor's Essays it is proposed to spend about $500. The committee, consisting of the Earl of Crawford, chairman, A. W. Pollard, H. R. Tedder, R. S. Faber, G. K. Fortescue, F. Jenkinson, G. F. Barwick and F. W. Bourdillon will be glad to receive donations either in single sums or in the form of annual subscriptions for four years. All donors of not less than $5 will receive the Memorial volume, and negotiations will be opened with the publishers to enable subscribers to purchase the volume of the Index at a reduced rate. Donations may be sent to H. R. Tedder, treasurer, Athenæum Club, Pall Mall, London.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BAKERSFIELD, CAL.—Wickersham, Wrenn & Staples have just opened up a book and stationery business here, and would like to receive publishers' catalogues and manufacturers' price lists.

THE DALLES, ORE.—Parkins, Grimes & Co., dealers in books, etc., have dissolved partnership.

FORT SCOTT, KAN.—J. F. Cottrell, bookseller, is selling out.

MT. PLEASANT, IA.—James P. Rouse, bookseller, has been succeeded by Edward Lines.

NEW YORK CITY.—The New Publication Company has been incorporated by Jesse M. Scherman, D. De Witt, J. G. Sturdevant.

NEW YORK CITY.—Sealed bids for any or all of the stock of William Beverley Harrison, at 65 East Fifty-ninth Street, will be received by Origen S. Seymour, trustee in bankruptcy, 35 Wall Street, until August 2, at 12 o'clock noon. All stock remaining after that time will be sold at public auction by Charles Shongood, at 65 East Fifty-ninth Street, August 4, at 10:30 A.M.

NEW YORK CITY.—The trustee in bankruptcy of the firm of Lewis, Scribner & Co. reports that the probability of a dividend for the creditors of this firm are very small. He has filed his final account with the referee, after which he had on deposit $412.55, which constituted all the assets of the bankrupt. Since then the referee made an allowance of $200 to attorneys, thus leaving $212.55 for additional expenses and dividend.

NEW YORK CITY.—The United Book Publishing Company has been incorporated by L. B. Stone, G. G. McMahon, jr., W. S. Giles.

OSWEGO, KAN.—F. M. Daniels has purchased the Enterprise Bookstore.

PAOLO, KAN.—The Miami Book and News Company has been succeeded by Hays & Barnhill.

RIALTO, CAL.—Judge A. B. Paddock has sold his book and stationery business to M. C. Harris, who will continue the business hereafter at the old stand.

SHERMAN, TEX.—Moon & Sanders, booksellers, have dissolved partnership. S. D. Sanders will continue the business.

WAUSAU, WIS.—A. W. Mumm & Co., booksellers, have been succeeded by G. W. Wilson.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Scribner's Magazine will hereafter be published in England by William Heinemann.

It is not generally known that Doubleday, Page & Company are issuing a new magazine besides their very successful periodicals, The World's Work and Country Life in America. It is really conducted by their employees as a "house organ," but if outsiders might read it, those who care to know the inside working of a publishing house would have interesting reading.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

In the July issue of The Iowa Journal of History and Politics, published quarterly by the State Historical Society of Iowa, Iowa City, Margaret Budington prints the second instalment of a "Bibliography of Iowa State Publications for 1898 and 1899," the first part of which, covering the years 1900-1901, was published in the Journal for July, 1903. This bibliography gives evidence of great care and is undoubtedly complete, 164 titles being recorded.

W. E. PRICE, 26 East Twenty-first Street, New York, will publish shortly a new issue of "The Author's Year Book," which will be one-third larger than the volume for 1902, the first issue. The volume will contain an address list of nearly 600 publications and publishing houses to whom manuscripts may be sold. Among the more important articles in the new volume will be "The Net Price System and its Relation to Authors," "The Preparation of Manuscript," by Charles Welsh, "English Periodicals and their Contributors," "Books Waiting to be Written," by Page Fox, etc.

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—Edward Baker, 14 John Bright St.,

Birmingham, Eng., Presentation copies of scarce books, etc. (No. 225, 585 titles.)—John H. W. Cadby, 222 Bleecker St., Utica, N. Y., Early almanacs, Angling, American Revolution, Genealogy, trials, etc. (No. 44, 275 titles.)—Brooklyn Book Exchange, (Richard E. Call,) 176 Clarkson St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Natural history, zoology, angling, etc., journals, sporting, travels, explorations. (No. 11, 665 titles.)—William George's Sons, Bristol, Eng., Americana. (1766 titles.)—James Irvine, 126 Mimosa St., Fulham, London, S. W., Botanical books, etc. (No. 88, 691 titles.)—Maggs Bros., 109 Strand, London, W., Engravings and etchings. (No. 205, 946 titles.)—Leo S. Olschki, Florence, Miscellaneous. (No. 49, 196 titles.)

BOOKS IN DEMAND.

THE Harpers are printing another edition of Mark Twain's "Extracts from Adam's Diary," which, according to American and English critics, has added materially to the gayety of nations. The publishers have just accorded permission for the translation of the "Diary" into Swedish and its publication in Sweden only.

HENRY HOLT & Co. have just sent Charles Battell Loomis's "Cheerful Americans" to press for the seventh time. "The Transgression of Andrew Vane," by the late Guy Wetmore Carryl, has gone into a third edition, and ex-Mayor Quick's boomtown romance, "Aladdin & Co." and "The Diary of a Musician" have gone into a second edition.

THE large first edition of Henry M. Elson's "History of the United States" was exhausted shortly after publication, and the Macmillan Company are about to bring out a second revised edition. Dr. Streeter's account of his farming experiences, "The Fat of the Land," is nearing its fifth edition.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have in preparation a copyright edition of the correspondence of Queen Victoria, which is to be brought out in the fall in two or more volumes.

"HOBBS," the last work of the late Sir Leslie Stephen, will follow in the English Men of Letters Series the "Maria Edgeworth," by the Hon. Emily Lawless, which has just appeared. Sir Leslie arranged his biography in a novel manner: the actual "Life" is comprised in the first chapter of seventy pages, instead of in scattered chapters through the book, leaving the other three chapters free for discussions of "Man," "The World," and "The State," as set forth in Hobbes's philosophical works.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY is encouraged to believe that "The Loves of Edwy" promises to become one of the most popular novels of the season. It is written by Rose Cecil O'Neill, the well-known illustrator, whose pictures in Puck and elsewhere have attracted much attention. So great has been the advance demand for this story, which is embellished by over sixty illustrations by the author, that the publishers have decided to increase the size of the first edition, and have postponed the day of publication from the fifteenth to the twenty-ninth of August.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have gotten up an attractive novelty under the general title of The Miniature Name Books. There are 100 books, each with a different girl's name, containing a history of the name, with examples of famous women who have borne it, also, a diary of the year or a birthday book. The volumes are bound in limp morocco, gilt edges, with colored silk book marker and gold lettered with the name. Each is neatly boxed and retails for 40 cents. They have also just brought out "Major Thomson's Bridge Scorer," a convenient pad, holding 50 scores. At the bottom of each score sheet is a perforated section for the loss and gain account that may be detached and kept separately by the players. On the back of the pad is a guide to the scorer, with hints on the declaration by Archibald Dunn.

D. APPLETON & Co. have in preparation a collection of Joel Chandler Harris's "Tar-baby" stories which he has put into verse, to be brought out with the title of "The Tar-Baby and Other Songs of Uncle Remus," with illustrations by A. B. Frost and E. W. Kemble; "Forty-five Years Under the Flag," by Admiral Schley, giving a narrative of the admiral's connection with the United States Navy; "Genevra," a Welsh story, by Charles Marriott, author of "The Column," that admirable story of the Cornwall coast; Hall Caine's new story, "The Prodigal Son;" "Bethany, a story of the Old South," by T. E. Watson, author of biographies of Jefferson and Napoleon; "An Act in a Backwater," by E. F. Benson; "The Clock and the Key," a mystery story, by Arthur Henry Vesey; also, "The Misfit Crown," the first book by Frances Davidge, a young New York woman.

THE SEARCH-LIGHT PUBLISHING COMPANY, at 24 Murray Street, New York, have established The Search-Light Information Library that should prove of inestimable value to the publisher as well as to the literary worker. The library already has the largest and most up-to-date collection of classified clippings and pictures, on all subjects, compiled from the newspapers, magazines, books, reports and periodicals of the world, and is daily adding thereto. A publisher in need of illustrated matter, portraits, maps, etc., will find here more in five minutes than he would be likely to discover by independent search in weeks. Authors and newspaper men will find the Search-Light Information Library as useful as an up-to-the-hour encyclopædia would be. The managers of the library are also prepared to supply special articles, with or without illustrations, on any subject and of any length.

S. LAPI, Città di Castello, Italy, has just published four new parts, (22-25) of the revised edition of "Rerum Italicarum Scriptores," the collection of the Italian historians from 500 to 1500, edited by L. A. Muratori and enlarged and corrected under the direction of Giosué Carducci and Vittorio Fiorini. The parts just published contain the "Life of Paul II.," by Gaspar of Verona, giving a valuable account of the society of Rome in the time of Pope Barbo, (1464-71;) the text of the "Chronica Gestorum in partibus Lombardiae," an important document of the history of the wars in northern Italy, (1470-1482;) the "Chronicon de rebus in Apulia Gestis," in which the Notary Dominic of Gravina relates the tragic events which took place after the assassination of Andrew, the expedition of Lewis of Hungary, and the civil wars that devastated the kingdom of Naples in the first years of the government of Jane I., (1343-50;) also, the first part of an exhaustive index of the Chronicon Parmense from 1038, which Dr. Julian Bonazzi has constructed upon the mss. in the Palatine library at Parma. Subscriptions may be sent to Professor Silvio Serafini, Città di Castello.

JOHN LANE will publish at once the third volume of the historical sketches of the Theosophical Society by its president-founder, Henry Steel Olcott. This third series, entitled "Old Diary Leaves, the only Authentic History of the Theosophical Society," takes up the narrative in the autumn of 1883 and carries it forward to May, 1887. The first series, covered the period from the meeting of Madame Blavatsky and Mr. Olcott, in 1874, to their departure from New York for Bombay, in December, 1878. The second told of their adventures in India and Ceylon, the formation of branches, the giving of lectures and the healings of the sick by hundreds, with other occult phenomena. In this volume accounts are given of the founder's meeting with several of the "Masters" in the course of his travels, and the results of the same; of the removal of the society's headquarters from Bombay to Madras; Madame Blavatsky's departure from her Indian home into the exile of a European residence. Some space is given to the troublous times of the Coulomb conspiracy, and the subject of the S. P. R. report is vigorously dealt with, in the thought of placing in the hands of all members of the society facts for the refutation of the personal criticism that has been visited upon the name of Madame Blavatsky. An interesting description will also be found in this volume of the building and formal installation of the Adyar Library, with ceremonies conducted by Indian pandits, Buddhist monks, Parsi mobeds and a Moslem maulvi.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

WHO IS THE INTERLOPER ?

"He was young and strong, the fascination of the place he had just left, and the curious readiness of his rather complicated mind to dwell on it, and on the past of which it spoke, ran up, so to speak, against the active perfection of his body."

Mrs. Jacob (author of "The Sheepstealers") tells in "The Interloper" a strong story of human emotions; the characters live, the events enthrall; all is forceful, fateful, concise, poignant. As we close the book we feel that we have been with living men and women.

A GREAT STORY GRANDLY TOLD

The book is being read and discussed everywhere

"A delightful story, excellently told in unaffected, natural style."—Outlook.

"A fine novel from start to finish, written in a brisk and easy style."—Morning Post.

"The writer of this story is distinctly a writer to be reckoned with. It is a remarkable book."—The Athenæum.

ARCHIBALD CLAVERING GUNTER'S
NEW NOVEL

My Japanese Prince

THE story deals with the present Japanese-Russian War; the first portion containing the peculiar adventure of a young American lady in Tokyo. The scene changes to a house-party in Manchuria given by the same young lady, the daughter of a great contractor of Meriden, Connecticut, who is erecting for the Russian Government bridges on their railroads in Manchuria. It closes with one of the most extraordinary and exciting as well as affecting episodes ever written in the English or any other language.

It will make the Hit of the Year!

Appreciating the very great demand there will be for this book, and that it is a volume everybody will like to keep in his library, the publishers have concluded to issue a popular edition

In Cloth, at Fifty Cents per Copy

COMBINED INDEX

1902-1904

Publishers' Trade List Annual

THERE remain only 185 copies of the original Index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, a comprehensive alphabet covering 1100 pages, with which we shall bind up the Supplementary Index, in an additional alphabet, to the new publications in the Trade List Annuals of 1903 and 1904. This will make a volume from 1350 to 1400 pages—which should be on the shelves of every book-store and every library which does not possess a copy of the original Index of 1902. This "Combined Index, 1902-1904," as it is known, will be furnished, to the extent of 185 copies—"first come, first served"—at a rate of $6.00, cloth-bound, previous to publication, which price will probably be increased on the publication of the Supplementary Index, which is furnished separately at the price of $2.50. To those who are unacquainted with this invaluable work of reference, sample pages will be sent on request, or provisional orders will be entered for sending a copy of the work on approval, carriage paid, in case the edition is not exhausted at the time of publication.

The Man Roosevelt

A Portrait Sketch, by FRANCIS E. LEUPP

Washington Correspondent of the New York Evening Post

AN unprejudiced personal study of President Roosevelt, by one who has known him intimately for twenty-five years, as a man and a friend, as well as a politician and a statesman. It is written from a thorough knowledge of practical politics, and with all the candor and fearlessness of a trained newspaper man; is rich in anecdote, and contains many bits of hitherto unwritten history. It is a revelation of THE MAN, HIS AIMS, AND HIS ACHIEVEMENTS.

"Mr. Leupp has set forth in type what a great many people have been thinking, but have not formulated, and he has formulated it with a plainness, a sincerity, a discrimination, and an independence that are excellent."—Brooklyn Eagle.

"Mr. Leupp has done the country a distinct and most important service in enabling the American people to see Mr. Roosevelt as one sincere and enlightened man, with special opportunities for reaching a just estimate, has seen him."—Washington Post.

"From all the tales of partisan newspapers and prejudiced books we vainly try to sift the truth of what a man really is. No man has ever been more variously represented to the public than Theodore Roosevelt. It is a great satisfaction to us to read this characterization of the President from the hand and heart of one who knows the man so well."—Pittsburg Christian Herald.

FERGY THE GUIDE

and his moral and instructive lies about beasts, birds and fishes. By H. S. CANFIELD. With some 50 illustrations by ALBERT D. BLASHFIELD. $1.50.

This Fergy is a real liar, that is he knows the truth about what he tells and a great deal besides. Fergy is a latter-day coureur de bois, with the dramatic instinct. Forest, lake and stream form his stage, given over to the comic muse. The persons of the play are foxes, bears, woodchucks, muskallonges and all the rest, denizens of the North Woods. A rollicking spirit of the wild is in these stories, and vigorous insight is there, too. ALBERT D. BLASHFIELD has most happily caught the author's spirit in some fifty sketches.

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN

Author of "Barlasch of the Guard," etc.

THIS story, which will stand with the finest that have come from his pen, was completed some months before the author's death. It deals with an attempt upon the French throne during the Presidency of of the man who afterward became Napoleon III. The period was romantic to a high degree. Many Royalists still believed that the son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette did not die in the Temple, and the author shows great ingenuity in connecting him with a mysterious French wit who, at the time of the Dauphin's supposed escape, had been picked up adrift off the coast of France, and brought up in an English fishing village. It is the son of this waif, a young fisherman with features of striking resemblance to the Bourbon type, who, eagerly accepted by Royalists as the heir to the throne of France, is the hero of this exciting tale.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE FEDERAL BOOK COMPANY, New York, have just ready a new story by Mrs. Georgie Sheldon, (Mrs. George Sheldon Downs,) entitled "Katherine's Sheaves," said to be "one of the strongest books written in praise of Christian Science." The volume is illustrated by Charles Grunwald, and is at present selling at the rate of 250 copies a day.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS will publish on the 26th inst. Henry Seton Merriman's last novel, entitled "The Last Hope." The story, which was completed some months before the author's death, deals with an attempt upon the French throne during the Presidency of Louis Napoleon. The period was romantic to a high degree. Many royalists still believed that the son of Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette did not die in the Temple, and the author shows considerable ingenuity in connecting him with a mysterious French waif. The son of this waif, a young fisherman, who is accepted by the royalists as the heir to the throne of France, is the hero of the story.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will bring out shortly a volume entitled "Chinese Made Easy," by Dr. Walter Brooks Brouner, of Columbia University, and Fung Yuet Mow, Chinese missionary in New York City, with an introduction by Dr. Herbert A. Giles, Professor of Chinese in the Cambridge University, England. Dr. Giles, who for a time was British Consul at Ningpo, says that "any one may gain, with its assistance, a knowledge of the Chinese language, colloquial and written; and that the student may take it up and positively progress from day to day without further assistance of any kind.

W. A. WILDE COMPANY, Boston, will bring out in the fall "The Fort in the Forest," by Everett T. Tomlinson, which will treat of the events which led up to and succeeded the fall of Fort William Henry on Lake George, N. Y., in 1755. This is the second story by Mr. Tomlinson in the Colonial Series for boys. They also announce the following books for girls: "Bonny Lesly of the Border," by Amy E. Blanchard, (in the Pioneer Series), which treats of life in Southern Michigan in the frontier days; also, "Ruth Campbell's Experiment," by Miss Nina Rhodes, who, although totally blind, is making a reputation for herself as a writer of stories for girls. Miss Rhodes's new volume is one which is to deal with modern life in New Lork City, which cannot but be helpful and intensely interesting.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS publish this week a work on the "Scientific Aspects of Mormonism, or, religion in terms of life," by Nels L. Nelson, professor of English in the Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah, who represents his work to be a new kind of "Mormonism Exposed"—written from the standpoint that Mormonism is good, true, and beautiful; and that, consequently, its detractors should improve their judgment, or mend their manners. They have also just ready a volume entitled "Wall Street and the Country, a study of recent financial tendencies," by Charles A. Conant, author of "A History of Modern Banks of Issue," etc., six essays written for the purpose of "setting forth the magnitude of the problems presented by the modern tendency to capitalization and of removing misapprehensions on the subject which seem to have obtained lodgment in the minds of a certain portion of the public;" also, "Green Mansion, a romance of the tropical forest," by W. H. Hudson, a story of primal instincts and passions, the scene of which is a tropical forest back of Venezuela and Guiana.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The original work was published in 3 volumes in 1900. See note, "Weekly Record," P. W., July 21, 1900, [1486.] The present edition takes up the same general topics, and follows the same method as the larger work. The synopses of chapters have also been substantially retained. The text however, although based on the first edition has been shortened, and questions of minor importance have either been dropped or materially abridged, and printed in smaller type; developments of important subjects are often indicated rather than quoted in full as they were in the large work; in these cases references are made to corresponding chapters or passages. Facsimiles of mss. inscriptions, etc., are given as in complete work. Indexed. Intended as a text-book for colleges.
